LOWELL YOUNG MEN AT CITIZENS' MILITARY TRAINING CAMP

Volunteer Enrollment for Summer Encampment and War Program Maneuvers Largest Ever Known From This District—New England Quota Increased to 3400

COL. CHARLES A. STEVENS
District Chairman

LIEUT. GEO. O. ROBERTSON
Local Chairman

Uncle Sam has called a hundred thousand red-blooded American young men to the colors. Lowell has responded by contributing 27 patriotic young men, ranging in ages from 17 to 24 years, who leave their homes and places of employment tomorrow morning, bound for Camp Devens and the annual citizens' military training camps. The volunteer enrollment of enthusiastic males for the summer encampment and war program maneuvers, calls for 30 days' training under the direction of the war department. Colonel Charles A. Stevens is Middlesex district chairman of the Military Training Camps association, with headquarters in Lowell and Room 315, 31 State street, Boston. Lieutenant George O. Robertson of Lowell, is the local chairman. These able executives declared today that the enrollment for the training camp of 1924 from this district is the largest ever known. All over New England, district quotas were filled very early. Because many young men unable to enroll in many districts were greatly disappointed, regular army officials at headquarters. Continued to Page Three

LABOR CHIEF AGAINST ATTEMPT TO TEAM A. F. OF L. WITH LA FOLLETTE

Bans Indorsement of Wisconsin Senator—Declares Federation Will Be Partisan on Principles But Not Parties—Predict Fight in Executive Council

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 31.—All the hurrah for a labor government, a labor party, La Follette and Wheeler and the like, will not startle the American Federation of Labor and the 4,000,000 wage-earners it represents out of its traditional non-partisan policy. Samuel Gompers, president of the A. F. of L., said so definitely to the New York Herald last evening, shortly after his arrival here to preside over the sessions of the federation's executive council, which open on Friday. Mr. Gompers' first public expression on the forthcoming presidential campaign or the part that organized labor would take in it has been awaited anxiously, especially by the backers of Senators La Follette and Wheeler. "Won't Be Defted" Their hope for an out-and-out indorsement of the third ticket move from the A. F. of L. was given little encouragement in the lengthy statement which Mr. Gompers issued. He made it plain that the non-partisan political policy of organized labor would be adhered to as firmly as ever. Whatever solace the statement carried for the La Follette-Wheeler backers is Continued to Page Three

CAPTURE ALLEGED SLAYER SOUGHT HERE

HAVERHILL, July 31.—Michael A. Serratore, alleged slayer of Giuseppe Giampa, 26 Front street, Bradford, was captured last night, pleaded not guilty when arraigned in district court this morning. At the request of counsel for defense and government, the case was continued until Aug. 9 for a hearing. The defendant was held without bail. Serratore was taken to the Lawrence jail this afternoon.

ADDITIONAL WATER MAIN FOR FIRE PROTECTION FRENCH PROPOSALS ARE ALL ACCEPTABLE

The mayor in a letter to the public service board today suggests, on recommendation of P. A. Barbour, consulting engineer, that an additional water main be constructed from the high service reservoir in Centralville to supply the Oaklands district, at an estimated cost of $75,000.

The recommendation of Engineer Barbour was made at the request of the mayor. He suggests that the new main be 16 inches in diameter and approximately 8000 feet long, running from the high service reservoir down Mt. Pleasant street, under the Merrimack river at a point opposite the end of this street and near the islands, and extending directly south into the Oak-

LONDON, July 31.—(By the Associated Press) The members of the expert's committee of the Inter-allied conference, after examining the proposals submitted by the French experts yesterday as a compromise plan to end the conference deadlock over security for the Danube basin German loan, declared their belief today that the French proposals, with minor alterations, would probably be acceptable to the conference.

Bandit's Pal Flees in Taxicab From E. Orange, N. J., Station When Clerk Defends Sacks

EAST ORANGE, N. J., July 31.—

One bandit was killed, one escaped and a mail clerk was wounded twice when he frustrated an attempted mail robbery at the Lackawanna railroad station early today. Eugene Stack, 23, mail clerk, employed at the local postoffice, is in the Orange Memorial hospital with bullet wounds in the right thumb and the right leg as the result of his repulse of the bandits, who had, it is believed, tried to steal a mail pouch carrying federal reserve packages. The escaped bandit got away in a taxi which is believed to have been driven by a confederate.

Hobbers Were on Train

Stack, who has been attached to the local postoffice but six months, as his regular duty, went to the station to meet the early newspaper train and had taken off six pouches when two men got off the train and limped towards him. Stack was piling the sacks on an open elevator to descend to the street floor. Near him was Assistant Baggage Master Golden B. Treadwell.

Fire Without Word

The bandits opened fire without warning and it was immediately returned by Stack. One bandit fell dead at the top of the stairway and the other fled to the bottom. The other fled to the street, where Stack saw him enter the taxi and he rushed away. Stack walked across to the postoffice where an ambulance was summoned and he was taken to the hospital.

Boarded Train at Newark

According to the police check-up, the two bandits had boarded the newspaper train at Newark, where they bought tickets. Search for the escaped bandit and his alleged accomplices has been unavailing.

ELECTED TREASURER

Thomas H. Varnum Named For Important Post at Merrimack River Bank

At a meeting this forenoon of the trustees of the Merrimack River Savings bank, Thomas H. Varnum, for the past few months assistant treasurer and for 20 years prior to that a clerk of the institution, was elected treasurer to succeed Franklin E. Johnson, who died in May of this year. At the same time, Earl M. Gray, for ten years clerk and teller in the bank, was elected assistant treasurer.

Mr. Varnum, who now makes his home in Chelmsford Centre, entered the employ of the Merrimack River bank when he completed his high school course in 1904. He was the second clerk the bank ever had, Mr. Johnson being the first after its incorporation in 1871. Later Mr. Varnum became chief clerk and was an active member of the institution long before its removal from Middlesex street to its present splendid home in Central street. On November 1, 1923, he was elected assistant treasurer, a position created at that time.

Mr. Varnum becomes the fifth treasurer of the Merrimack River bank, those who succeeded him being G. Winfield Knowlton, Almy J. Flint, Nathan G. Lamson, the present president, and Mr. Johnson. The board of trustees in meeting today also passed resolutions in memory of Mr. Johnson and made them a part of the minutes of the meeting to be spread upon the permanent records of the bank.

During the 20 years Mr. Varnum has been associated with this bank, it has grown tremendously in resources and strength. In 1904, its total deposits were $1,934,844 and its surplus, $144,508. Today the deposits total $3,315,019 and its surplus, $330,261. This shows a gain in deposits of $3,360,175.

The present board of trustees include Charles Runnels, Michael Corbett, Nathan G. Lamson, Frank H. Haynes, Herbert C. Traft, John J. Harvey, Byron F. Cady, James G. Hill, William H. Follet, C. Marshall Forrest, John H. Johnson, Frederic S. Stevens, Elmore L. MacPhie and Ralph E. Runnels.

LOWELL MAN IS MISSING

Raphael Palardy, treasurer of the Notre Dame de Lourdes Credit union, a bank conducted on the co-operative style in Branch street near Nichols street, is missing from his home and his wife has been unsuccessful in her attempts to locate his whereabouts. At her home at 501 Wilder street today Mrs. Palardy said her husband left to visit relatives in Canada on July 13, that he did stop with them for two or three days and left, presumably to return to Lowell. He has not returned and she has not heard from him since he left more than two weeks ago.

BANDITS SHOOT AT N. Y. POLICE

Five Surprised By Lone Patrolman Hop in Auto and Open Fire

Other Officers Join in Chase and Believe Some Gunmen Wounded

NEW YORK, July 31.—Following a pistol battle early today between five bandits and three policemen in the lower East Side, a general alarm was sent to all hospitals in the city asking them to keep a lookout for the injured members of the gang. The police believed at least two of them were injured.

The battle began when a patrolman attempted to capture the men after their actions had aroused his suspicions. When he approached them, they sped away in their automobile, returning his fire. Two other policemen commandeered a taxicab and joined in the chase. The rear glass window of the bandits' automobile was shattered by the policemen's bullets, but the car outdistanced the police.

Another pistol battle was waged in Brooklyn between five detectives and four men who attempted to escape with a stolen automobile. After a chase of more than a mile, the bandits deserted the stolen car which was punctured with bullet holes. Later the alleged driver of the abandoned car was left wounded at the door of a Brooklyn hospital.

DEATH IN NEW YORK OF FORMER LOWELL BOY

The many local friends of Rodolphe Boudreau, son of the late H. P. Boudreau of West Centralville, will be grieved to learn of his death which occurred in St. Joseph's hospital, New York, last Monday. Mr. Boudreau was studying for the priesthood in the Jesuit order, and was to have gone to Rome for ordination next year. He became ill several months ago while teaching in the Jesuit high school of St. Regis in New York city, where he was professor of French and political economy. He was also moderator of the dramatic and debating societies of the school.

Decensed was born in this city and received his early education in the schools of this city. He was an honor graduate of St. Joseph's school, and received his degree of bachelor of arts from Boston college. The funeral took place yesterday in New York.

She says she has made efforts to locate him, but without result. It was said at local police headquarters this noon that no report concerning the absence of Palardy from the city has been received there.

THEIR ANNUAL OUTING

Children of French-American Orphanage Guests of Dr. Gagnon at Beach

The annual outing of the children of the French-American orphanage, at Salisbury beach, a yearly treat given by Dr. A. J. Gagnon, was held today. Shortly after 9 o'clock this morning, 25 machines, gaily decorated with American flags, wended their way through the square bound for the popular summer resort. The children, boys and girls, accompanied by their teachers, the Gray Nuns of St. Joseph, laughed merrily as they gleefully waved to passersby.

The party arrived at the beach at 10:30 o'clock and the time before dinner was spent in romping and playing about in the sand, building sand dunes, "playing house" and various games. At 1 o'clock a delicious shore dinner with plenty of ice cream and sweets was served the little guests. A series of all descriptions were distributed and the children made a pretty picture as they left the dining hall, the girls wearing vari-colored hats and the boys sporting canes and noise-making affairs.

The afternoon was devoted to sports of all kinds and the little ones were allowed free scope. Participation in the various amusements at the beach, including the "Jack Rabbit" hobnob, horses, roller coaster and other forms of entertainment provided many happily crowded minutes.

A luncheon was served prior to the start home and with hearts filled with joy and gratefulness the children returned to their "little city" in Pawtucket street, tired yet happy after one of the most enjoyable treats of the year.

SERIOUSLY INJURED IN RUNAWAY ACCIDENT

Thrown from the driver's seat and crushed under the wheels of the wagon he was driving, when the horses became frightened and ran away, William J. Couillard, aged 67, of 121 Willis street, was very seriously injured in Prescott street early last evening. At St. John's hospital, where he was taken in the ambulance, it was found he had sustained a badly crushed chest and fractured leg.

The accident occurred a few minutes after six o'clock. Couillard, teamster for a local contractor, was driving a pair of horses attached to a heavily loaded wagon through Prescott street, towards Central. Half-way up the street the horses became unmanageable and ran away. Couillard attempted to hold them but was thrown from his seat when the wagon crashed against the side of an electric car. It is believed one or two wheels of the wagon passed over Couillard's chest, causing the serious injuries.

The horses continued on their mad dash down Prescott street, but were stopped at Central street by Police Sergeant Peter P. McMahon and Officer Francis O'Loughlin before they had done any further damage. At St. John's hospital early this afternoon, it is reported Couillard's condition is very critical.

NEW DISTRICT COURT BUILDING TO HAVE FOUR COURT ROOMS

Plans Discussed Today With Judges and Clerk Show That Structure Will Be One of Finest in County For Transaction of Civil and Criminal Business

Persons particularly interested in the construction of a new district court house building for Lowell, including Judge Thomas J. Enright, Associate Justice John J. Pickman, Clerk of Courts Edward W. Trull, United States Commissioner Richard B. Walsh, members of the Lowell Bar association, County Commissioner Erson B. Barlow and County Architect Charles R. Greco met in conference this forenoon in the library of the court building in Market street and went over the building plans in minutest detail. Court business in Boston prevented the attendance of

Daniel J. Donahue, president of the bar association. In the main the plans were fairly well established before the conference, that is, the general layout was fixed, but not to such an extent as to prevent changes and alterations in compliance with suggestions from the court, the clerk and the lawyers. Architecturally the building will be most attractive and a perusal of the plans brings the impression that the interior as well will be of harmonious designs and of advanced accommodations and comfort. There will be in the building four Continued to Last Page

CHIEF SAUNDERS RECOMMENDS THE WHITE APPARATUS

Fire Department Head Sends Letter to Purchasing Agent in Connection With Awards—States Reasons For Recommending White Machines

Fire Chief Edward F. Saunders, in a letter to the purchasing agent today concerning the latter's request for recommendation in connection with the award of contracts for three triple-combination pumping engines and one aerial ladder equipped with tractor, recommends the purchase of White triple-combination and an air-operated aerial ladder equipped with White tractor.

The reason for his choice of White machines, the chief says, is to standardize the department as this tends to greater efficiency for two reasons, a decreased cost of upkeep and quick replacement of parts, also a more ca-vable handling of the apparatus by fire department members due to familiarity with the standard type of machine.

The chief's reason for recommending an air-operated aerial ladder rather than a spring operated one, is on the grounds that in a city such as Lowell an aerial ladder truck is likely to be used, but seldom and the air-hoist is less likely to get out of order. The air-hoist ladder costs approximately $2000 more than the spring-hoist type. The chief also commends the White people highly for their very efficient Continued to Last Page

LOWELL OFFICER CATCHES ALLEGED MURDERER IN BILLERICA

Aroused to Action by Frantic Cry of "Catch That Man, He Murdered Two Families"—Charge Against Man Arrested, However, is That of Larceny

Aroused to action by the frantic cry of "Catch that man, he murdered two families," uttered by three men in an automobile as the machine sped up Jordan street in hot pursuit of a taxicab at 7 o'clock this morning, Police Officer Thomas O'Sullivan gave chase in his motorcycle and in North Billerica overtook Abraham Frank, 55, wanted in Lawrence for the larceny of $2400 from Max Cohen, a meat dealer. The whereabouts of Frank, who has been missing since the theft took place last May, was made known to the police last night when a group of local men, acquaintances of Cohen, informed headquarters that the suspect was trying to work a "money" game in this city. Early this morning, Officer Frank O'Lea was assigned to the case and was following up a clue when Officer O'Sullivan's timely appearance brought the matter to a conclusion.

The latter was proceeding to the station on his motorcycle to begin his day's work when he was attracted by the unusual entries of the men in the machine. Literally interpreting their excited message of "murder," he about-faced his motorcycle and gave chase to the taxicab containing the fugitive. Out Jordan street, through East Chelmsford and to North Billerica, the chase extended, with the motorcycle steadily gaining ground and eventually overtaking the cab. Identified as the individual wanted for the Lawrence offense, Frank was taken to the station pending the arrival of the down-river authorities. During his sojourn there, he was visited and positively identified by Cohen. Accusation upon accusation was heaped upon him in dramatic fashion by Cohen and a group of friends, who persisted in characterizing the prisoner as a murderer. Frank said he originally came from Chicago.

"WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO BUY TODAY, FLOP?"

"Sh!" said Nick to Nancy. "Don't make any noise."

The Twins were standing very still under a burdock leaf near the place where Flop Field Mouse lived. Having their magic shoes on they were so little you would have to look twice to see them yourself.

By and by the front door opened and out came Flop all dressed up in a nice starched shirt and red necktie.

"Now do keep yourself clean, Flop," said his mother. "Every day I start you off to Happy Go Lucky Park clean from the skin out, and you come home looking as though you had been digging in a coal mine."

Flop looked kind of queer when she said that, but all he said was, "All right, Mamma, I'll be careful."

And away he went flinging his 10 pennies in his pocket and whistling. But catching sight of old Mister Owl looking out of his window, he quit and hurried away into the woods.

The Twins went after him, still going as quietly as they knew how; and they saw Flop stop under the hazel bush where Mikey Mole lived and knock on Mikey's door.

"Hello, Flop," said Mikey, coming out and closing the door behind him. "I'm ready."

Away went the two chums arm in arm, through the woods toward Happy Go Lucky Park.

Nancy and Nick were behind them.

EFFECTIVE FOR STREET

This is the type of dress that may be worn effectively for street without a coat. It is of navy blue that crepe with jabot, collars and cuffs of a lighter shade of blue, edged with white. The skirt achieves originality by being composed of alternate pleated and plain ruffles. A leather belt passes through straps at the side outlines the low waistline. There's just one warning—this is a style for those who wish to cut their height rather than for those who have no extra cubits to spare.

BROOKLINE TAX RATE $20 PER THOUSAND

The Brookline board of assessors yesterday announced the 1924 tax rate showing residents will have to pay one dollar more this year. The rate was set at $20 per $1000 against $19 in 1923. The valuation of the town was set at $127,427,000, against $118,165,000 in 1923, or an increase of $9,262,000. The cause of the increase in 1924 taxes is due to the town expenses and increase in the different taxes to be paid by the town.

LA FOLLETTE LEADERS WATCHING A. F. OF L.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Campaign activities in behalf of the La Follette-Wheeler presidential ticket were temporarily at low ebb today, with the interest of leaders turned chiefly to ward the meeting at Atlantic City of the national executive committee of the American Federation of Labor. A number of labor union executives attending the meeting are pledged to support a move to throw the federation's support to the La Follette ticket as a whole, which would be a sharp departure from its previous political policy. At an early date campaign workers said today, a program will be worked out to guide the efforts of the candidates themselves. Neither, however, is expected to take the road for stump speaking much after Sept. 11.

Screen "Comebacks" Far Easier Than Breaking In

VIRGINIA LEE CORBIN TODAY AND WHEN SHE BROKE IN ON THE SCREEN

BY A. H. FREDERICK
NEA Service Writer
HOLLYWOOD, July 30.—Consistent shibboleth of the movie world is this: "the screen needs new faces."

Picture-making today is as much a business, conducted on investment principles, as is the grocery or butcher shop. No more than the proprietors of these does the producer invest heavily in some untried stock. That's why your potential luminaries go home again in vast droves, having got no farther than the barred passageways of the outer casting offices.

The moderating phase is an occasional gamble, such as in the case of Valentino. But the gambles are very occasional—and often disastrous.

Returns to the screen are much easier. In this case there is the guarantee of screen personality, that indefinable quality which makes and holds friends loyally, and a background of experience more reassuring than participation in the high school class play. With these the producer may get a moderate amount of sleep between shooting of the last scene and public judgment.

Two such returns or "comebacks" are now in process of being made, both by former stars who have been absent from the screen for several years. And, both being under proven directorship, odds are heavy that two new names soon will be firmly established in current numbers of "Who's Who in Hollywood."

Marguerite Snow, former wife of Director James Cruze, relieved from most onerous cares of motherhood by growth of her daughter past the toddler age, is preparing her debut in "Chalk Marks," a Frank B. Woods production.

Miss Snow starred in many pictures, the last being "Lavender and Old Lace," in 1921, but is best remembered for the thrills she furnished us in "The Million Dollar Mystery," serial melodrama of a few years back.

She returns, however, not to melodrama, but via a play of serious import and dramatic complications.

Second of the comebacks is Virginia Lee Corbin, who takes this manner of answering in so far as she is concerned the oft-repeated question, "What becomes of the child stars?"

Having made two pictures for Goldwyn, "Mary the III" and "Free Love," Miss Corbin, yet to celebrate her 15th birthday, is appearing in "A Drama of the Night," a Paramount production being directed by James Cruze. Some few years ago, fans will re-

Some Families Are Never Ill

FORTUNATE are the children whose parents fully realize the seriousness of constipation. Hospital records prove that 75 per cent of all disease originates in bowel obstruction, or constipation. Young children cry because of it; school children are hampered in their studies; grown people are made 25 per cent less efficient; elderly people's blood pressure increases 28 per cent. Realizing this Mrs. Carrie Moss of 1714 Church st., Lynchburg Va., Mr. Louis C. NONE INJURED WHEN CAR IS DEMOLISHED

An automobile with a Maine registration was demolished on the Lowell-Lawrence road at 6.30 p. m. yesterday when struck by a Lowell-bound electric car about opposite the Methuen armory. Two young men in the machine escaped injuries. Persons who saw the accident say that the automobile came onto the state road from a side street and that the driver stopped it directly on the tracks in front of the approaching electric. One stop and three windows in the electric car were broken.

Wife Finds Time for Social Duties, Care of Children and Writing

MRS. FRANCES PARKINSON KEYES

BY HORTENSE SAUNDERS
N.E.A. Service Writer

WASHINGTON, July 31.—In the midst of her social duties in Washington and her responsibilities as the wife of a politician and the mother of three sons, Frances Parkinson Keyes finds time for the career she has always cherished—that of an author.

Her latest book, "Letters From a Senator's Wife," should be on the required reading list of every woman who contemplates living in Washington or taking any part in official life. It will save the fledgling politician's wife many embarrassments and prepare her intelligently for what is to come.

When her husband, who is the senator from New Hampshire, entered upon his official duties in Washington, Mrs. Keyes found herself facing a job just as new and trying as his—that of being a senator's wife. She recounts her first experience with the utmost candor and does not hesitate to mention her first faux pas as well as her triumphs, and her series of letters gives a very interesting sketch of social life in Washington.

Lived in Country

She maintains a constant appreciation of the advantages of Washington society, a kindly tolerance for all its formalities and seems never to forget what the folks back home want to hear about.

EACH PULLS A MEAN OAR

In case you overlooked it in the news of the day, America also won the double sculling event in the Olympic water games, thanks to the sure, steady pull of Jack Kelly and Paul Costello, pictured above resting on their laurels, or oars, as it were, a few moments after the struggle.

WALL STREET ITEMS

Profit-taking tendencies later brought some irregularity to the market, forcing slight reactions in American Can, General Electric and several other of the rail shares. These failed to check the general advance, however, most issues offering firm resistance to selling pressure. Gains of a point or more were registered by Colorado Fuel, West Pennsylvania Power, Allied Chemical, G. R. Kinney, United Railways Investment, Savage Arms and Atlantic Coast Line, the latter two reaching new 1924 high prices. "Nickel Plate" mounted to a new peak price following reports of progress in the proposed acquisition of Erie and Pere Marquette. Foreign exchanges opened steady.

The upward movement of stock prices proceeded with renewed vigor at the opening of today's market. American Can forged ahead into new high ground for the year at 128 and American Waterworks reached a 1924 top price at 117 1/2, up 1 1/2 points. U. S. Steel, Baldwin and other pivotal industrials were higher and some of the oils advanced in the face of another increase in crude oil production.

Bankers and officials of several large corporations are understood to be planning conferences to float refunding issues because the bond market has reached such a high level, companies having bonds outstanding with high interest rates being chiefly affected. Ample opportunity to sell bonds with lower coupon rates is afforded by the present market and would result in heavy reduction in overhead interest charges.

The American Sugar company has sold its entire holding of Great Western Sugar company common stock which was shown in the last annual report to have been 105,581 shares valued at about $5,300,000.

The half-yearly report of E. I. du Pont de Nemours shows net income of $7,610,089 compared with $10,125,882 in the first six months of 1923. This is equal after debenture stock dividends to $5.54 a share on the common stock, against $5.34 a share a year ago. Profit and loss surplus was $55,338,414. Net sales of $47,761,249 were about $1,500,000 less than in the corresponding period of 1923.

Dividend and interest payments in July aggregated $306,880,000 compared with $386,025,000 a year ago, according to a compilation by the Journal of Commerce. Disbursements to stockholders, based on payments by 350 companies totalled $106,140,000 against $101,576,000 in July last year.

COLORADO FACINGS
Colored facings are one way of introducing color on a frock that must be dark to withstand much wear. Red and blue are both excellent choices. The white facing on black is not so practical, but is very lovely.

DINNER GOWN
The black lace or chiffon dinner gown is seen as the standby in the wardrobe of the woman who must watch her expenditures. Dyed lace, too, is very popular.

Dining Room Omitted, Leaves Three Bedrooms in Five-Room Home

A colonial house is not necessarily one of clapboards—a white house with green shutters and dormers. Shingles, brick or stucco are often used to good advantage, as is demonstrated by the charming stucco home shown here.

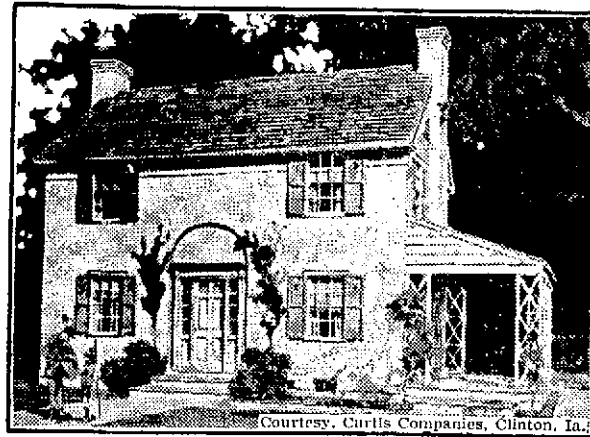

Nothing could be simpler than this severely rectangular house, with plain gabled roof, balanced chimneys and symmetrical openings. Yet, there is not the least suggestion of monotony or bareness. Trellises instead of heavy posts support the porch roof.

Note the use of sidings in the porch roof. The narrow, clean-cut cornice, small-paned windows and quaint shutters are all appropriate and decorative.

The simpler Colonial entrance, with its interesting little panes of glass at the top and its sidelights, is further accented by the arch in the stucco above.

The plan is of the central-hall type, although the hall has been reduced to just a vestibule with a coat closet and a boxed stair. There are several points of interest in the living room—the fireplace, the alcove opposite it, the room-end of bookcase with a window seat between them, the glazed door that leads to the living porch.

Since there are three bedrooms in this five-room house, it is evident that some other usual room is omitted. That is the little-used dining room, for which a delightful built-in dining alcove is substituted. It opens off the vestibule, and is separated from the kitchen by a cased opening.

FIRST AND SECOND FLOOR PLANS AND FRONT VIEW OF HOME WITHOUT DINING ROOM

Every possible convenience makes the kitchen almost ideal for the servantless family. Two dressers, worktable and ironing board are built-in. There is space under one window for the sink. The refrigerator is in the entry, as are the basement steps, so that the kitchen is spared much intrusion.

Each of the three bedrooms has windows on two sides. There are four closets besides the linen case, a tray case and the bathroom medicine case. The upstairs hall and stair are well lighted.

In the average community a home like this should cost about $5600, figuring the construction at 30 cents a cubic foot.

CALLING IN THE EXPERT

RAILROADERS ENDORSE LA FOLLETTE TICKET

CINCINNATI, O., July 31.—(By the Associated Press)—Senators La Follette and Wheeler, independent candidates for the presidency and vice presidency, respectively, were endorsed today by the executive board of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees.

At the same time the board voted its approval of the "progressive program" adopted by the conference for progressive political action convention at Cleveland on July 4 and 5 and recommended to its members earnest support of the program.

The names of Senators La Follette and Wheeler were not mentioned specifically, but in a supplemental statement attached to the resolution giving support to the program of the conference for progressive political action, the board said that it had in secret session here for more than a week, endorsed the two independent candidates and senators and representatives in congress, who are known to be progressives.

The action of the clerks is in line with that taken by several other railway brotherhoods. The adoption of the resolution endorsing the Cleveland conference convention is merely formal, the sovereign body of the brotherhood at its convention in Dallas in May, 1922, having endorsed "the non-partisan political movement based on the furthering of our common interests, through political activities."

LOWELL BOY SCOUTS AS FIRE FIGHTERS

Yesterday afternoon a threatening forest fire broke out on the timber lands of Miss Martina Gage, of the Gage Ice Company, in Hudson, N. H. The fire department found that it had a difficult blaze with which to cope. The Lowell Council Boy Scouts are spending the summer at Camp Faulkner, on the shores of Robinson's pond, in Hudson. When the fire assumed serious proportions the Hudson fire chief notified the scouts and asked for assistance. In the battle that raged throughout the day the Lowell scouts were ever in the van, but it was not until late in the evening that the efforts of the fire-fighters were finally crowned with success. When the last glowing ember has been trampled out and all danger of a general conflagration had vanished, the weary workers repaired to the scout camp, where coffee and food were served. The older men in the party heartily congratulated Scout Executive Mellen for the excellent work that his scouts had performed.

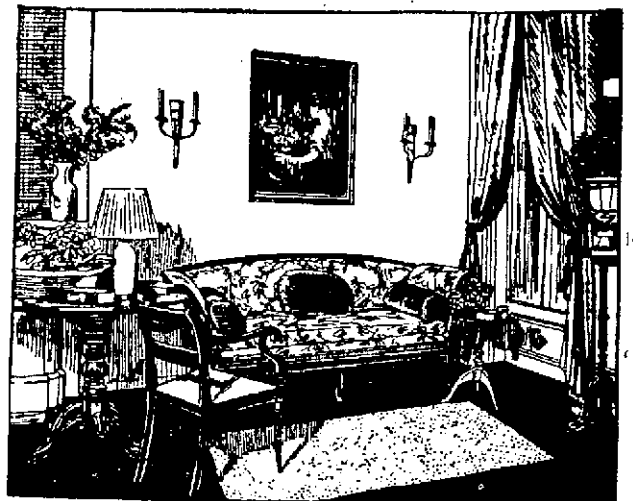

Advertisers who use The Sun consistently get greater returns on the money invested than through any other Lowell newspaper. There's a reason. The Sun goes into more homes in Lowell and suburbs than any other Lowell paper and ninety per cent of Sun readers read no other Lowell newspaper.

Painting, Vase or Rug May Be Color Basis

THE COLORS OF THE PAINTING SHOWN HERE ARE BROUGHT OUT IN THE REST OF THE ROOM

To the uninitiated, the problem of color choice in furnishing a home is confusing. The reason is that the right color combination is hard to determine.

This difficulty decorators neatly overcome by a simple expedient. They find something of color and more or less attractive, on which to base the color setting for the rest of the room or even the whole house.

A painting above the fireplace, a beautiful vase to which the family is especially attracted, a beautiful Chinese or Persian rug—anything that is attractive and ornamental in itself furnishes the experienced decorator with the correct color combination for the rest of the home.

Take a tapestry with dull reds, blues and tans predominating. There is an effective triad in itself. If the colors are brought out in the furnishings about it, the tapestry becomes the pivotal point of interest in that room.

The rugs and walls may bring out the tan of the tapestry in a similar color. The colors of the furnishings about the room need not be exactly those of the tapestry, but they should have the chief ingredient of each.

For example, the wall of peach tone wallpaper is close enough to the tan of the tapestry to make a pleasing background for it.

So with the hangings, the furniture coverings, the lamp shades, sofa pillows and other sources of color about the room.

In the same room, a smatter of act coloring from the tapestry, or other central decoration, placed at discreet points, finishes the atmosphere of the place. A touch of red here—just a touch of it—another of blue and another of tan, complete the entire make-up of the room and leave a pleasant feeling to the people in it.

SERVICE BOARD ON TOUR OF INSPECTION

The public service board is this afternoon viewing sites for which petitions for repairs to streets, sidewalks and sewer have been received.

The board, with City Engineer Kearney and department heads, left city hall at 1:45 o'clock and will not complete the tour until late this afternoon.

Hearings on petitions, sites mentioned which were viewed this afternoon, will be held in the aldermanic chamber at city hall at 7:30 o'clock this evening. Following the hearings, a regular meeting of the board will be held.

LOST CHILDREN

Because of the increasing number of lost children cared for at police headquarters recently, and detained there for several hours before being "called for," it is suggested that parents of such children get in touch with the station as soon as the disappearance is brought to their attention. It has happened at times that lost children have been kept at the police station well into the night, simply because their identity is not established. The police telephone number is 4123.

NUXATED

It is the organic iron in your blood that takes up oxygen from your lungs. This oxygenated organic iron unites with your digested food as it is absorbed into your blood, like fire unites with coal or wood, and by so doing it creates tremendous power and energy. Without sufficient organic iron in your blood your food merely passes through your body without doing you any good.

Organic iron, like the iron in your blood, and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples, may be had from any druggist under the name of "Nuxated Iron." In tablet form only.

Millions of people are using Nuxated Iron with great benefit. It increases the strength and endurance of weak nervous, run-down people, in many cases, in two weeks' time.

If you want that virile force, that stamina and strength so necessary to great success in practically every undertaking in life, you owe it to yourself to commence taking Nuxated Iron today.

Every druggist in this country is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if a full pint bottle of Allenru, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not show the way to stop the agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenru has been tried and tested for years and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiable and where the patient was helpless.

Mr. James H. Allen, of Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of Allenru, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenru decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance. AMUSEMENT NOTES

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Why a thoroughly entertaining and true-to-life novel makes good picture material can be easily understood by spectators who see "The Fool's Awakening," the Metro premier which opened a three days' engagement at the Merrimack Square theatre this afternoon. It is based on William J. Locke's story, "The Tale of Trilona." Harrison Ford, Enid Bennett and Mary Alden have the leading roles and are ably assisted by a competent cast.

The second feature of the current program is "Phantom Justice," a picture which has created widespread discussion, not alone for the remarkable information it contains, but also because of the great entertainment value of the story.

An Our Gang comedy, "The Big

Show," and the latest International News complete the bill.

RIALTO THEATRE

A human triangle without a villain, where the two men are pals, and the girl is a trusted friend to each, and where the outcome is "different." This is the extraordinary situation in "Stormy Seas," which opens at Loew's Rialto today, and in which J. P. McGowan and Helen Holmes are the stars. The story of "Stormy Seas" is one of throbbing heart interest throughout. Suspense and romance mingle with thrills, and not the least of the developments which command the picture as one exceedingly worth while is the fact that it has a surprise ending. The hero and heroine do not involge in the customary movie "clinch" after the rescue. Earlier in the story the man has shown himself unworthy of the girl, and even in heroically saving her life he does not win her back to himself. A new sort of a human triangle to be sure, yet one that can very well be true to life and is all the more welcome because it is new.

Big Boy Williams in a college story entitled "The Freshie," another thrilling episode of "Fighting Blood" and a Fox News are included in the program.

CHOPPING BOWL

A wooden chopping bowl that retains the odor of onions or any strong foods that have been chopped in it should be soaked in hot water to which a teaspoonful of soda has been added.

BLACK FINGERNAILS

The women of Paris are said to be dyeing their fingernails black and then giving them a very high polish. Another fad is to tint the inside of the palm and fingers a deep rose pink.

TRAIN HITS OPEN SWITCH; ONE KILLED

NEW YORK, July 31.—A prematurely opened hand switch which caused the derailment of three rear passenger coaches on a Long Island railroad express train bound for Port Washington in the Sunnyside yards at Woodside, L. I., yesterday afternoon, resulted in the death of one woman and in the injury of 27 other passengers. The majority of those hurt were in the third car from the end, which sideswiped an electric engine on an adjacent track, was hurled on its side.

MANY HURT IN TENEMENT FIRE

NEW YORK, July 31.—Eight persons were injured, one seriously, in a fire which broke out early today in a five-story tenement in Third avenue. One of the injured was a child thrown from a second floor window by its mother. A second child, thrown from the same window, was caught in the arms of a pedestrian. Several rescues from the upper floors were made by the police and firemen.

THE DEATH RAY

It was natural to suppose that when aircraft became available for purposes of warfare, something in the line of an antidote should be found to prevent them from causing wholesale destruction of populous cities or of large armies by the dropping of bombs and the distribution of poisonous chemicals. So it comes to pass that a British inventor, H. Grindell Matthews, has produced an electric means of destroying aircraft. It is commonly designated as the "Death Ray," but the inventor objects to this name as conveying a wrong idea of his invention. He says it is the most humane element yet to be introduced in warfare, as, according to his statement, it renders the men whom it strikes unconscious for an hour or two, after which they recover and experience no injurious results. It will not hurt a battleship because of the grounding of the current; but it will destroy an airplane in the air and leave it a mass of ruins. If it accomplishes this, as the inventor claims, then the world will have no longer to dread the danger of ruin and destruction in case of a war in which airplanes should have free play, provided this invention comes into general use. At present it is controlled by England, and the inventor could not even demonstrate it here. Britain may cultivate it as a protection against the growing air power of France, but such an invention cannot long be confined to any one country. It is also alleged that it will cure cancer, and if so, this is a great point in favor of its universal application.

HEARST AND HYLAN

Hearst and Hylan are plotting to have the latter run for governor; but while he may do so, it is not expected that he will get the nomination. No tool of Hearst is directed against Governor Smith who had been imported to run; but he says he prefers to go on a stump tour for John W. Davis, the democratic nominee. He intends to be a candidate for president four years hence, and if he now confined his attention to an affair of his own, he would lose prestige with the country and instead he wants to win popular favor and get acquainted with the people, especially in the middle west.

No man can do more in the campaign for democratic victory than can Governor Smith. Tammany will not take kindly to Hearst or his candidate so that it is likely that a candidate will be chosen to run against Hylan for the nomination who will beat him. Hylan's record as mayor of New York city is not such as to recommend him for a higher office.

WANT FINES ABOLISHED

A time-worn problem involving textile mill workers and the size of their weekly pay envelopes, comes up again in New Bedford, where the weavers' protective association is once more seeking the entire abolition of the old penalizing system by which weavers have been fined for defective work. It is declared that, although most of the cloth mills in New Bedford have done away with the old method of fining weavers, a few concerns continue to make deductions from pay envelopes for poorly woven cloth.

Some years ago this subject was the cause of many labor disputes. During the progress of the controversy, and at a time when the workers were strongly organized against the "fining" system, about one-half of the textile mills dropped the system. There are still to be found, nevertheless, some mills that faithfully cherish and maintain the fining system.

The weavers have good excuses when defects in cloth are laid at their doors. In the transition of cotton from the raw state to the cloth in gray goods in a mill such as those found in New Bedford, at least nine crafts are employed. Eight of these are not subject to fines, or else have had the fining system abolished. The ninth may be the one fined in rare cases. Since the mistakes and imperfections occurring in the mechanical process of eight other crafts are brought to a focus in the loom, the fining of weavers appears to be rather out of place since about 50 per cent. of the defects in cloth are due to causes usually beyond the control of the weaver. The managements of the mills, of course, claim that by maintaining the fine system, better cloth is produced.

THE DEADLOCK

In reference to the deadlock at Paris relative to the means of obtaining substantial security for the loan to Germany, it would seem that it should not be necessary to sidetrack the just claims of France on the matter of reparations. The Dawes plan apparently would suspend the right of France to push her claims against Germany, if by so doing she should interfere with the arrangements for payment of the proposed loan. It does seem unreasonable that a minor transaction should take precedence over and block one vastly greater; but apparently the Paris conference believes that this is the only way they can get anything from Germany. But France has a different opinion based upon military action as a last resort. Now, however, it appears that a compromise may be reached on the suggestion of Col. Logan of the United States as to a mode of breaking the deadlock which has blocked all the progress toward the adoption of the Dawes plan of settling the reparation issue between Germany and the allies. France, too, is now showing an inclination to compromise for the general good.

JAY-WALKERS

The reckless auto driver gets all the blame usually, but there are just as many reckless pedestrians as drivers, even more. In New York City, for instance, during 1923, a total of 120 people were killed by autos while jay-walking between street intersections, only 52 killed at crosswalks.

Common sense convinces that both driver and pedestrian are not careful enough. Things are improving, however, there are more accidents than formerly, but fewer for each 1000 cars—just more cars in use now.

CHASTISE PERSIA

It appears that the fanatical Persians who killed the American vice-consul in Teheran were not at all abashed at their cowardly act but went so far as to make an attack upon the widow when she appeared upon the streets some days after the murder of her husband. It would seem that the United States should deal with Persia in regard to this matter in a manner that would impress other fanatics with the danger of any attack upon American citizens. If Imbrie had been a British official, the Persian authorities might now be begging for mercy from the menace of British battleships.

ANNUAL DEATH TOLL

Nothing but the greatest caution can prevent accidents on the highways. It is often surprising what a slight neglect will result in a serious accident where motor vehicles are speeding to and fro in all directions. Carelessness and neglect are the chief causes of accidents from which two hundred Americans are killed daily throughout this country. This amounts to 73,000 deaths a year, fully nine-tenths of which are due to carelessness. Safety devices are helpful but personal caution is and always will be the greatest preventive of accident. The best rule is to play safe and take no dangerous chances.

THE JEW

Magistrate Doyle of New York City tells a prisoner brought before him: "In all my long experience in the courts you are the first Jew ever to be arraigned before me on a parading charge."

Why have the Hebrews such wonderful genius at making money? Gentiles might study this and learn more of the plain truths of success involving skill and energy in supplying the needs of their fellowmen.

NOT A PACIFIST

Despite what republican critics say of Governor Bryan of Nebraska, the democratic candidate for vice president, he is not a pacifist. He is to order the national guard of Nebraska to mobilize for practice on September 12; but will not request the mobilization of civilians. He believes in national defense and preparedness but not in militarism.

In view of the disturbance at Lancaster, it is but reasonable to suppose that when any class of people find a movement on foot to deprive them of their liberties, they will naturally offer some opposition. The right of peaceable assembly and that of religious freedom must both be preserved.

The state forester, as a precaution against forest fires, has wisely issued an order against lighting fires out of doors. Campers, and others should take due notice. The careless smokers should also be more careful as to where they throw their cigar stubs.

Somewhat it appears that the illicit sale of liquor and it might be said also, the consumption of impure liquor and the consequent results in drunkenness, are all on the increase. The question arises as to whether the police are doing all they should do for the enforcement of the law.

The man who while intoxicated attempts to run a motor vehicle on the highways endangers his own life as well as the lives of others. He should be locked up for at least six months, first of all for getting drunk and then for trying to run a motor vehicle while in that condition.

The war still rages along river row, 12 miles off shore; but the home manufacturers are competing actively with the importers who send their goods through the government lines. The question arises, how long is this conflict to continue?

If our fire apparatus is inadequate to protect the city against present fire hazards, then there should be no delay in supplying the deficiency.

Young Leopold in his statement after the murder of the Franks boy, said he did not believe in God or the future life. Yet he is a college graduate and an intellectual.

SEEN AND HEARD

All of us know what we would do this vacation if we could afford it.

They say snakes will not bite in water, and a disgusted fisherman tells fish won't either.

A modern girl is one who thinks sitting down without crossing her knees is a waste of silk stockings.

A Thought

Lying is the strongest acknowledgment of the force of truth.—Hazlitt.

Very Generous Man

Longers at the club had a certain man under discussion. Some said he was generous. Some said otherwise. Finally a lawyer walked in who knew the man well. To the newcomers they appealed to say whether the individual in question was generous or not. "Judge for yourself," responded the lawyer. "When I knew him he was a dollar-a-year man with the government and was giving his entire salary to his wife for pin money."

Astronomer Stumped

A distinguished astronomer tells of a visit paid by several young women to his observatory. "I had done my best," he said, "to answer with credit the running fire of questions which my fair callers propounded. I think I had named even the remotest constellations for them and was congratulating myself upon the outcome, when one of the younger members of the party interjected: 'But, as it has never been proved that planets are inhabited, how do the astronomers find out their names?'"

Tough Old World

He fled down the street after the tramcar, and perspiration rolled down his cheeks. "I'll catch it," he said to himself. "If I die for it." Faster went the tram. He knocked children over in his wild career, but he never wavered. He drew nearer to the car. At last he touched the rail, and with a despairing effort drew himself aboard. He sank in a seat, panting for breath. The conductor touched him on the shoulder, and said: "You'll have to get off; we're only going to the trash-shed."

Big Leaguers

Baggs and Jags met, and Baggs and Jags got yarning. "I once knew a man, dear boy," began Baggs, who was so ticklish on the soles of his feet that whenever he took a bath he had to walk about afterward on a blotter. It was the only method of foot drying that wouldn't throw him into fits. "That's nothing," retorted Jags. "I used to board at a place where the landlady was so nervous that whenever the wind blew she had to go out and grease the corners of the house, so that the wind wouldn't creak when it went around them."

A negro had heard his parson tell the story of Daniel in the lions' den. He doubted the story very much, however, so he decided to see the parson about it. "Parson," he questioned, "am it true that Daniel was thrown in the lions' den and dey didn't eat him up?" "Yes, suh, Brudder Smiff," answered the parson, "dat am do fact."

"Den dey must have been circus lions," "No, suh; de bible say just do kontra-ry."

Diamond Men

For nearly half a century private secretary to successive lord mayors of London, Sir William Scott, tells a good story about famous art connoisseurs who, at a big city function, found himself sitting next a somewhat illiterate country alderman. In the course of conversation the alderman mentioned that his grandfather had known the great Napoleon. "Indeed?" said the other. "That's very interesting." "Yes," the alderman went on. "And I still have the finest snuffbox that Napoleon gave him. It has a hen in diamonds on the lid." "A hen?" exclaimed the other. "O, I see! You probably mean an eagle—the imperial eagle!" "No," insisted the alderman. "It's a hen plain enough. I've got it with me. Look!"—and he pulled from his pocket a splendid gold box with an "X" in brilliants on the lid.

Profit and Loss

Ten years ago today the World War began. To refresh the memory of those who have forgotten, we publish here with the purposes for which the war was fought:

To make the world safe for democracy.
To save Belgium.
To make the Kaiser.
To make a world fit for heroes to live in.
To insure the freedom of the seas.
To free Poland.
To free Italy.
To end secret diplomacy.
To provide self-determination for small nations.

To cleanse the world of militarism.
To free Alsace-Lorraine.
To end war.
Of these points worthy objects, what percentage has been attained?
The answer is easy:
One-half of one per cent.—Baltimore Sun.

True Love's Time of Day

When shall I find you, sweetheart?
That shall and must be mine?
I seek, though the world divides us,
And I send you the secret sign.

There's blood in the veins of morning.
So fresh it may well deceive,
When man goes forth as Adam,
And woman awaits him as Eve.

There's an ethereal spell in twilight,
When the bats of Fancy fly,
And sense is bound by a question,
And Fate by the quick reply.

And the moon is an old enchantress,
With her smiles of glimmer and shade,
That have ever been false and fatal
To the dreams of man and maid.

But I'll meet you at noonday sweet-heart,
In the blinding fields of grain,
When the sun is hot for harvest,
And the roses thirst for rain.

With the daylight's truth on your forehead,
And the daylight's love in your eyes,
I'll kiss you without a question,
And you'll kiss me without reply.

—JAMES RAYARD TAYLOR.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

How many autoists of your acquaintance repair their own tires? I'll wager that you can't name many. A friend of mine tells me that he was held up recently by a puncture on the Lowell-Lawrence boulevard. The first thing he did was to jack up the car and remove the tire, but when he attempted to dismount the "gum" it was with dismay that he discovered the loss of his keys. The only thing to do was to repair the tube itself. Troubles never come singly, and my friend found that his rubber cement had hardened. He was in a quandary. As he was far from a service station he held up a passing car and attempted to borrow some of the necessary cement. The driver did not carry it. Eight cars he halted with the same result until one man showed him how to "sprinkle" the padlock on the "spare." Vulcanizers must be coining money.

The national guardsmen enlisted in B battery, 12nd Infantry, at Camp Devens are proud of their nuttily slicked-up kitchens and cooks, and also the substantial food served to one and all. There were numerous complaints about the meals served to both officers and members of Companies C and D of the 12nd Infantry, at the first occupation of the season, and many Lowell boys declared that they had to purchase food in restaurants outside of the campground in order to satisfy their hunger. The fault was not with the cooks and supply officers of Companies C and D regimental but quartermaster's department—the "higher-ups." If the Lowell infantrymen's kitchen had had the food, the boys would have gotten it.

There has been considerable criticism concerning the high rate of speed at which fire apparatus is driven through the city streets. Having heard the critics, I questioned a group of fire department chauffeurs to learn their side of the question. Numbered in the group was one of the chief chauffeurs who said: "There lived in this city a few years ago a man who took special delight in turning fire choppers speed maniacs. For two years he raved and ranted about us and our method of driving. Then one night, a few minutes before midnight, his house caught fire. He lived in the outskirts of the city and we made a record run responding to the fire and managed to save the main section of the house, but an ell was destroyed. The next day that man told his friends and acquaintances that there was a lapse of nearly half-an-hour after the alarm was sounded before the apparatus arrived—and the truck I was on made the run in less than five minutes."

Tyler A. Stevens, back from England, tells a most interesting story of a prevailing method in London of leasing automobiles for yearly amounts, rather than an out and out purchase. The Daimler people, I think it is, which puts out only a high priced car, quite generally leases them to business and professional men at a rate of $3000 per year, payable in monthly installments. The man who assumes such a lease, assumes no responsibility and has no expense whatever to worry about. The Daimler people supply the car, the chauffeur, the gasoline, the oil and the tires. The car is at the disposal of the lessee at any time, day or night and the year round he has the same operator. At the end of the year, if the contract is renewed, a brand new car is furnished for another 12 months. Since hearing this from Mr. Stevens, I have been told that the Packard Co. does the same thing in this country, although not on a large scale.

Tomorrow afternoon at Alumni field, the Sun baseball team will play its French counterpart, L'Espresso. Fully incensed over the defeat administered by our second team at the hands of the D. L. Page nine last Tuesday, our regulars will go after their opponents with a vengeance. Our true strength, however, will not be divulged until the long-anticipated struggle with the Old-Leader team takes place.

Male spectators at future sessions of the local district court will do well to enter the court room attired in their coats, as Judge Wright is bent upon upholding the dignity of the court. Within the past few days several persons have been ordered to withdraw from the court room because of the lack of proper attire. Hereafter, the officer at the door will see to it that coatless individuals are prevented from seeking admittance.

It is surprising that many boys are not injured in the now very common practice of jumping motor trucks between Lowell and Boston and from here to Silver Lake. The boys found unconscious on Rovers street last week attempted to board a passing truck and fell heavily to the street. Every day a group of boys and young men can be seen near the Moody school awaiting trucks on which to beat their way to Silver Lake or more distant points.

The old-time condemned mill tenement houses on the canal-side of Suffolk street, are slowly disappearing from the landscape. The work of demolition of the line of weather-beaten, half-ruined structures that have for so many years sheltered human lives—the workers of the mills, the spinners and makers of other production machines of the Lowell cotton industry—goes steadily onward as the Locks and Canals proprietors continue to tear down and remove the relics of ancient Lowell. The destruction of the disreputable wooden structures began earlier in the summer, and started with the removal, first of Abramovitz & Kramer's blacksmith shop of the "rifle" class. The shop was numbered 157. Since that shop was numbered 157, the demolition of the disabled buildings, tenement houses in dilapidated condition have been removed from Suffolk street locations number as follows: 157, 155, 151, 153, 159, 173, 171, 163, 161, 133, 121.

PARCELS POST EXPORT BUSINESS GROWS

WASHINGTON, July 31.—The parcel post system has come to the aid of the exporter to the extent of carrying two million dollars of export business a month. The bureau of foreign and domestic commerce of the commerce department made public figures today, showing that exports by parcel post have more than doubled since January and that for the first five months of the year $3,300,452 worth of goods was thus exported.

Broker, Alone With Hair-Dresser, Dead From Bullet Wound in Temple

Young Woman Tells Police He Was Showing Her it Wasn't Loaded

NEW YORK, July 31.—Harry Mack, stock broker, was killed in his room in the theatrical district early today following a party which had lasted until after midnight. A young woman, who was alone with him when he was shot, and who said she was Peggy Cook, a hair dresser of Philadelphia, was questioned by the police.

Miss Cook, who gave her age as 19, declared the shooting was accidental. She had remained after the other guests left, she said, and when she noticed a revolver in the room asked Mack to put it away because it frightened her. He took the weapon, she said, and opened the chamber, allowing several cartridges to fall to the floor. Then he placed the revolver against his temple, she said, and, after pulling the trigger, remarked: "See, it isn't loaded."

Then he pulled the trigger again and there was a loud report, she asserted. Mack was dead when an ambulance surgeon arrived.

FEW IRISH JUDGES KNOW THEIR GAELIC

DUBLIN, July 31.—(By the Associated Press).—An attempt to compel railway companies in the Free State to print their announcements and tickets in the Irish language only, or in both Irish and English, was vigorously opposed by Senator W. B. Yeats, the poet, who in the course of his address revealed that he had tried to learn Irish and failed, as he had always failed to learn any other language than English.

A strong feeling has manifested itself in favor of making this country bilingual. Irish is compulsory in the schools, and in the law courts it ranks equally with English. It is but rarely employed, however, and when it is, causes some embarrassment to judges and counsel, most of whom are ignorant of it. Occasionally an attorney puts in an affidavit in Irish only, and the court permits an adjournment until counsel have succeeded in obtaining a translation.

OLD AGE PENSIONS MEET OPPOSITION

BERNE, Switzerland, July 31.—(By the Associated Press).—A pension of $50 a year to all citizens of 55 years of age is provided for by the measure now before the Swiss parliament. Half of the cost is to be covered by the state, and to this end it is proved to increase the tax on alcoholic liquors. The other half of the cost is to be provided by the insured and by those employing them.

The measure is meeting with general favor, except from the socialists, who find $50 a year insufficient. They also urge that the pension be paid also to invalids of any age.

STANZAS FOR MUSIC

There be none of Beauty's daughters
With a magic like thee.
And like music on the waters
Is thy sweet voice to me;
When, as if its sound were causing
The charmed ocean's pausing,
The waves lie still and gleaming
And the hilly winds seem dreaming.

And the midnight moon is weaving
Her bright chain o'er the deep,
Whose breast is gently heaving,
As an infant's asleep;
So the spirit bows before thee
To listen and adore thee,
With a full but soft emotion,
Like the swell of Summer's ocean.

PEN SECRETS

Just a plain old black pen that's been chewed on the end, and it lives on a postoffice table. It's dipped in the ink as the writin' folks think. Oh, what it could tell, it 'twere able.

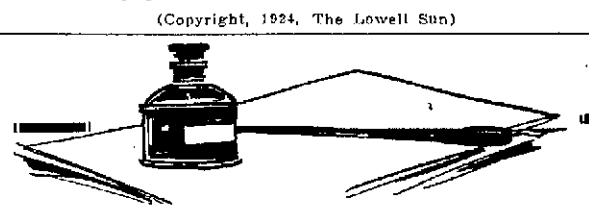

A maiden approaches and scribbles a bit. She smiles as a letter is written. The pen knows her secrets; there's no doubt of it. It knows that with love she is smitten.

A boy in his teens, with no dough in his jeans, the long line of writers will join. The pen knows the lad is just writin' to dad to suggest that he send him some coin.

A mother walks in, mid the postoffice din; just a little old lady in black. She writes to a child who, perhaps, has run wild, and she pleads that the youngster come back.

The trusty old pen serves its duty right well. It works for whomever may call. It knows lots of secrets but never will tell. They're merely pen-secrets—that's all!

FEAR FOUL PLAY FOG HOLDS UP IN DENVER CASE WORLD FLIERS

Woman Found Near Death

Police Seek Divorced Hus-

in City Recently

DENVER, Colo., July 31.—Police have been unable to solve the mystery of circumstances surrounding the finding of Mrs. Gertrude O'Reilly Ramsay Cooper of Denver, and Kansas City, lying near death on an improvised bed in the kitchenette of her fashionable apartment here Tuesday morning, gas pouring from a stove nearby. She is in a hospital unconscious and unable to aid the officers.

Mrs. Cooper's identity was not established until yesterday, when her mother, Mrs. Margaret O'Reilly Casey and her stepfather, Patrick Casey, visited her. Mrs. Casey told police she knew of no reason why her daughter should attempt to take her own life, and Mr. Casey declared he believed Mrs. Cooper was a victim of foul play.

Police were trying to verify a report that J. H. Cooper of Kansas City, from whom Mrs. Cooper is said to have been divorced in Wichita, Kas., four years ago, arrived in Denver Tuesday night and that Mr. Cooper had communicated with his former wife by telephone before starting for home.

Mr. Cooper thus far has not been located.

Mrs. Cooper came to Denver from Kansas City recently. She is said to have a sister, Miss Clara O'Reilly, in New York city.

ination of stars hitherto unaffected. In fact, personal introduction of the two was necessary shortly before the camera started registering the first scenes of the picture.

"The plot, portraying as it does, a development in character, will give my biggest dramatic opportunity," comments Miss Terry. "Not that I was or am dissatisfied with my former roles, but this, being distinctly different from them, naturally catches my fancy as new things will."

"Much of the dramatic action in 'The Great Divide' takes place between two of the characters—Mr. Tearle and myself. This, technically known as a two-person story, also is new to me."

Thus explained to them, Terry fans, who formerly complained of the meagerness of their favorite's film footages, may await completion of this picture with no less expectancy than Miss Terry herself.

star as the chief magnet that lures the half dollars and that which contends "the play is the thing."

Whose can answer the riddle will render inestimable service to the motion picture magnates, sorely puzzled through it in the region of their pocketbooks and maximum returns thereto.

Proponent of one school is Schenck. Ample close-ups, multitudinous personality scenes are allotted a "fair" made in all his pictures—story be what it may.

Subordinate Actors

Perhaps foremost advocate of the other theory is Rex Ingram, under whose directing Miss Terry has been for some four years, or since the industrially revolutionary "Four Horsemen." This theory subordinates actors to story.

Among his many claims to fame Ingram lists this, that he is the husband of the pulchritudinous Miss Terry. But when directing he recognizes neither relatives, friends nor celebrated strangers as entitled to one jot or tittle more of film footage than is called for by the script and the action.

Consequently, while Miss Terry has had the leading feminine parts in the great productions which Ingram has given us, big dramatic scenes have de-longed largely to others—for so it chanced.

Now, for the first time since he took charge of her career, Ingram has consented to his wife's appearance under the directorship of another, Reginald Barker, at present engaged in filming "The Great Divide" for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

In this picture Miss Terry has been cast as Ruth Jordan, feminine lead made famous by Margaret Anglin in the stage play. Opposite her in the cast will be Conway Tearle—a com-

Jail Can't Silence Magee

CARL C. MAGEE

By N.E.A. Service.
LAS VEGAS, N. M., July 31.—Carl C. Magee is staking his freedom and his future on a fight.

He has been sent to jail and to the verge of bankruptcy, but he fights on to:

Overthrow the political gang that rules San Miguel county.

Establish the freedom of the press in New Mexico.

He has earned the title of the "fighting editor in America." He was given this title when he defied the powers of Judge David J. Leahy, boss of the "Kingdom of San Miguel."

Ever since Magee started publishing his paper in Albuquerque he attacked the judge as corrupt. Once before he was sentenced to 15 months at hard labor and to pay a fine of $4,000. He was pardoned by Governor Hinkle before he went to prison.

This did not deter him. He had declared his war and he fought on.

Defies Court

He was summoned again. Under this threat he wrote:

"Leahy's court" isn't a court. It is a slaughter-house for the blind god-ness of justice.

"Abandon hope all ye who enter here, could be put over the entrance with great propriety. I doubt whether a case, civil or criminal, has been decided there on its merits in 10 years."

"If the time ever comes that I can get Leahy on an equal footing with me in an honest court, I'll take him to the worst cleaning one man ever received. About once in two weeks I have accused him of being a corrupt judge in the hope that I could involve him into suing me for libel."

Then I'd have him down on the floor of the court with someone else on the bench and a jury in the box."

So he was sentenced to jail again.

Even in his cell, writing on a pad of copy paper on the bottom of a chair, he continued his editorial attack upon Judge Leahy and his associates.

Forced to Sell

Magee came to New Mexico in 1920 from Tulsa, Okla., because of his wife's illness. He started his first paper and his fight at the same time.

His bankers called in loans when he exposed a deal in which banks profited at the state's loss.

He was forced to sell his paper. He bought another paper, and backed by the Scripps-Howard organization, continued the battle.

Magee, a rangy man with steel-gray eyes, is little worried about his own fate.

When he walked into court to face Judge Leahy the last time, he was asked if he had any reason to offer why sentence should not be pronounced. He remarked in matter-of-fact tones, without any hint of being dramatic:

"I deny that I am being accorded

due process of law."

The judge stuttered, so surprised was he at this challenge to himself. He asked Magee to repeat.

Then he found him guilty on another count of contempt.

HORDED SILK

white gown affords all the trimming

THREE GAMES FOR ABBOTS

Graniteville Outfit Has Trip-let of Hard Games Ahead —Going Big

North Cambridge at Graniteville Tomorrow—Cleveland Giants Here Saturday

Looking ahead past a bit on the baseball horizon as far as it concerns the doughty Abbot-Worsheds of Graniteville, followers of that aggregation will see that three hard games are scheduled for Mr. Abbot's representatives over the week-end.

Friday night at Graniteville, one of the biggest tests of the season will be tried out when Abbot's try conclusions with Dan Leary's North Cambridge league-leading entries in the Boston Two association. Unanimously regarded as one of the hardest teams in the world to lick, the North Cambridge crew will go to the Saturday contest reversing the defeat handed them at Alumni field here by the Abbot's about two weeks ago. On that occasion, Leary got into difficulties with the crowd when he stepped on Tompkins' toe with his spiked shoe in the heat of an argument. The hundreds of local fans who saw the Abbot in action on that day will remember that Eddie Boyce had the Cambridgeans fairly swinging at his hands while Elmerie Grant and the rest of the stellar A. J. batsmen found little trouble in solving the delivery of the famed Chippie Gave. In tomorrow night's fiasco, it is probable that Eddie Galt, former York College star, and Washington American league star, will oppose the Abbot's.

Saturday at Alumni field, the Abbot will perform for the edification of Lowell fans when they cross bats with the Cleveland Giants, latterly called on gang in the baseball world. The Alumni field games of the past have been drawing record crowds, but with an attraction such as the Giants of Cleveland, all previous marks are due for a smash.

Dilboy Post lost to Abbot's in a clean, hard-fought game a week ago, and North Cambridge was the discouraged victim of the week before. By their fast playing and all-around knowledge of the game, the Abbot's have established themselves as favorites with local fans, who are rooting for them to oust North Cambridge from the top rung of the ladder. The Cleveland Giants have a win to their credit over the Abbot's, so that if the Graniteville team comes the Saturday verdict here, it will mean a whole lot.

To give the fans all the baseball they have been clamoring for, a Sunday game has been arranged in Graniteville by the Abbot management. If this isn't enough for one week-end, double-headers will have to be scheduled.

SILESIA CANTERS IN YANKEES MORE AGAINST FITCHBURG

Fitchburg was no match for the strong Silesia team at Fitchburg last night, when Greenhaigh pitched his team to an easy 11 to 4 victory. Hop Roper at third base, Fitchburg's error twice and the outfield support accorded Bennett was decidedly off color in spots.

The same teams play on the Silesia grounds at North Chelmsford tonight. The score:

CHELMSFORD A. A. AND C. M. A. C. IN TIE GAME

The C.M.A.C. and the Chelmsford A.A. went seven innings to a 2-2 deadlock in a Lowell Twilight league game on the South common last evening. The C.M.A.C. drew first blood by scoring their two runs in the second inning. Chelmsford came back from the rear in the fifth to put two runners over the pan for the tie that still exists.

Cornellier worked in the box for the C.M.A.C. while Kneeland did the honors for the Chelmsford crew. Hits were scarce, the out-of-towners getting but two bingles, while C.M.A.C. connectors for the home team.

C.M.A.C. scored its runners after two batters had been retired. Gendron, third man up, laced a single to left and stole second. Bernier laced a single to right and the runner scored on a lousy triple to center by St. Jean.

The Chelmsford runs came to pass on Zollinger's clip to short, L. McElroy's crash to the same sector, and Kneeland's safety to center.

BRADY GOING GOOD IN GOLF MATCHES

BY JOE WILLIAMS

Mike Brady has moved up among the season's winners. The black-haired Irish home-bred out shot a stiff field in the recent Metropolitan open and won with a total of 292. It was Brady's first victory in the winning card of Cyril Walker in the American open at Oakland Hills.

What's more, it was made on a harder course, inwood, because of its narrow fairways and its treacherous out-of-bounds holes, is more treacherous than the Michigan layout.

Had Brady displayed the form at Oakland Hills—his old home course, by the way—that he had on tap at inwood, the championship would have fallen into his bag. He was one under 48 for the last three rounds and that is rather neat stuff. If any member of the royal suite should happen to ask you:

"The Irishman overtake Brady," the final stages of the fight, when the pressure was tightest, getting six pars and two birds on the last nine. In short, he was enjoying one of his rare scoring series and is doing it if Hagen, Walker, Sarazen or anyone else could have stopped him.

Why Brady has never won the national open is a mystery that passeth all understanding. Certainly he has the ability. Once he tied for the title but was beaten in the playoff the following day by Walter Hagen.

Brady seemed to have the championship clinched. It was back in 1919. Finishing the morning round on the day of the final he led the field by five strokes. His total up to this point was 221. Hagen, closest to him, had 226.

It didn't seem humanly possible for any player to overtake Brady. A hole in one stroke is not easy to shake off when you have but 18 holes to do it in. Brady helped matters somewhat himself. It helped in the word. He took up 39 for the final round. Hagen took a 76 and tied it up. Brady had found it harder to stay out in front than Hagen had to come up from the rear. This was Hagen's introduction to the golfing world as a never-failer. The next day he added lustre to his new reputation by winning the playoff in decisive style.

INCREASE LEAD IN AMERICAN LEAGUE WHILE IDLE, BECAUSE OF TIGERS' DEFEAT

Red Sox Lose But Lowly Braves Come Through With Double-Header

NEW YORK, July 31.—The Yankees today are stronger by a game and a half than their closest rivals in Ban Johnson's baseball League of Nations. Through a policy of watchful waiting, to which they were forced to resort by rain while Washington was defeating Detroit, New York added half a cubit to its stature. By their victory the Senators incidentally crept to within half a game of the Tigers.

Although Walter Johnson was knocked out in the second inning of the Washington-Detroit tilt, he was in the fray long enough to start his team on the road to a 7 to 4 win by crushing out a homer with Bludge on base. Marberry, the famous speed merchant's successor, kept the ferocious Yankees at bay during the remaining seven frames.

Chicago made hay while the sun shone in the windy city and the rain descended in St. Louis by taking a 7 to 0 fall out of Boston, thereby reducing the Braves to tie in the fight for fourth place in two games and a half. The White Sox converted an apparently hopeless cause into an occasion for rejoicing with three-run rallies in the eighth and ninth rounds.

Gallagher's error in the 8th started a Cleveland rally which moved the Indians ultimately winning 5 to 4. The Giants maintained their lead of seven games over the Cubs in spite of a 6 to 2 defeat. The hands of the game as Chicago also lost. Catcher Earl Smith who once was on McGraw's payroll, was banished for protesting a decision.

The Cubs' defeat was administered by Brooklyn in the form of a 6 to 0 shut-out. Burley Grimes applied the kalmesone.

Boston was inconsiderate enough to take a new lease on life just as Cincinnati tried to oust the Robins from fourth place by winning a 6 to 0 victory. The Red Sox, however, now lead their challengers by three contests.

St. Louis is still deeper behind the Phillies a 9 to 8 beating. Hornsby's sixth place breakwork by leading the Phillies a 9 to 8 beating. Hornsby's fourth home run of the season and triple play in which the redoubtable Rogers also figured, feature the slamm-bang affair.

WALKER-LEONARD WILL FOR NEW YORK

NEW YORK, July 31.—Defeated in a battle of wits with the New York state boxing commission, Mickey Walker, 17, world lightweight champion, is now ready to fight against Benny Leonard, lightweight titleholder in the city on the evening of Aug. 21. "Tex" Rickard, promoter of the fight, said that the bout, which was scheduled to take place in Boyle's Thirty Acres, Jersey City, announced his willingness to yield to the commission's demand that the fight be held in New York.

Walker, who has been in New York in this state for refusing to meet Dave Shand, coast welterweight, said he was satisfied with the new arrangement and that he would take on Shand later.

The exact place of the Walker-Leonard match has not yet been announced by Rickard, but it is confidently expected that the combat will choose one of the local baseball parks within a few days.

SEABRIGHT TENNIS CARD FOR TODAY

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 31.—William M. Johnston of San Francisco, will meet Nathaniel W. Miles of Boston and Howard H. Kinsey of California, in the semi-final of the men's singles division of the Seabright invitation tennis tournament today. Miss Mary E. Brown of Los Angeles and Miss Mayme MacDonald of New York, will clash in the finals of the women's singles tomorrow.

Johnston advanced to the semi-finals by defeating Alex Thayer of Philadelphia 6-1, 6-3. Kinsey won 6-3, 6-3; and Niles downed Dean Mathey of Cranford 6-2, 6-1.

Miss Brown eliminated Miss Molly D. Thayer of Philadelphia by scores of 6-3, 6-2. Miss MacDonald registered a hard-fought triumph over Miss Florence Ballin of New York at 7-5, 6-0, 6-3.

The men's doubles, Johnston and Clarence J. Griffin and Earl Schrader and Smith were the first to reach the semi-finals.

With the running off of the high jump yesterday, a very exciting and close contest between the track teams of the Washington and Pawtucket playgrounds was brought to a finish. The winning of the high jump changed the score from a tie to 25-16 in favor of the Washington playground.

The results were as follows: 200-yard dash—Charles Pendergast, first; Washington; Irene Landry, second; Pawtucket; Doris Ryan, third; Pawtucket.

Relay won by Pawtucket. Baseball three—Charles Pendergast, first; Washington; Irene Landry, second; Pawtucket; Doris Ryan, third; Pawtucket.

Broad jump—Catherine Ryan, first; Pawtucket; Charles Pendergast, second; Washington; Irene Landry, third; Pawtucket.

High jump won by Washington. Score: Washington 25, Pawtucket 16.

ST. LOUIS, July 31.—Alvin Plestina, Juco-Slay wrestler of Chicago, failed to throw Jimmy London, Greek heavyweight, in 30 minutes of fast wrestling here last night. Plestina had accepted a handicap match against London on the agreement he was to throw the Greek twice in 30 minutes. London weighed 192 and Plestina 230 pounds.

Do You Know Baseball?

by Billy Evans

1. Batsman receives a base on balls. He goes to first base and the ball is returned to the pitcher. The runner, after reaching first base, makes a false dash for second. The pitcher snaps the ball to the first baseman and the runner is touched before he can get back to the base.

2. A runner on first and one out, the batsman hits a long drive to left. When runner on first reaches third, he is in doubt as to whether he should try for home and hesitates. The catcher at third keeps his hands on the runner and finally pushes him in the direction of the plate.

3. The relay to the plate is wild and neither runner scores. It is doubtful if he would have scored if the ball had been given the runner at the plate. What is the proper ruling?—D. D.

Answers:

1. The runner who reached first on a base on balls makes himself liable to be put out when after reaching first, he makes a dash toward second base. Play is not suspended in such a case until the next batter gets in the box. The ball is in play and the runner is out.

2. No consideration can be given to the fact that a perfect play at the plate would not have retired the runner. When the catcher grabbed the runner and pushed him toward the plate, he committed an interference and automatically retired said runner.

Questions

1. There are three men on the bases. As the pitcher starts to wind up the batsman on third tries to wind up the batsman on first. Apparently the square play is on, but the batsman tries to bunt the ball but fails. After failing to bunt the ball, the batsman remained in the original position in the batter's box. The catcher attempted to hit the ball in plenty of time to retire the runner from third. However, the batsman was blocking the way and the catcher found it necessary to dive for the runner in an effort to complete the out. The force of the catcher's action caused the runner to drop the ball. The umpire ruled the runner out. When play was resumed the batsman who had blocked the play at the plate hit safely, scoring the tying run. Did the umpire rule the proper play?—R. A. G.

Answers:

1. Batsman are filled. Umpire rules that pitcher made a balk to third base and allows all runners to advance, forcing in the winning score. Is that correct?—G. T.

Correct:

1. Interference plays are judgment plays on the part of the umpire. If the umpire was of the opinion that the batsman had made it impossible for the runner to reach the plate, the umpire was correct in ruling out the runner who came in from third. With less than two out, and the batsman interferes with a play at the plate, the runner from third is called out. All base runners are called to advance a base. Such a happening with the bases filled would, of course, force a run over the plate.

Light Heavyweight King Showed Lack of Finesse in Carpentier Mill

NEW YORK, July 31.—Say what you will about Georges Carpentier, Call him actor, faker, has-been. But hand him this much credit: as a trial horse he is a complete success.

You ring fans should be interested in trial horses. A trial horse is a fading fighter who tests the skill and fixes the status of a championship contender.

Carpentier came over from France and battled Tommy Gibbons at Michigan City, Ind., two months ago. Gibbons had won 15 rounds with Jack Dempsey, king of the heavies, and was maneuvering for a return fight. One way to convince the public that he deserved it would be to knock out Carpentier. You know what happened. The Frenchman stuck the last limit, limping through the last 12 rounds on a sprained ankle. Result: exit Gibbons as a possible Dempsey conqueror.

Next came Gene Tunney, American light-heavyweight champion. Mr. Tunney talked earnestly and profoundly of a match with Dempsey. The Carpentier battle was arranged with that idea in view.

Shrewdly Tunney's manager, Billy Gibson, insisted on a 15-round bout. The Frenchman had proved that he was still good enough, physically, to go 10 rounds against Gibbons, but maybe he would find the longer route tougher.

It is hardly necessary to recall the main details. Tunney won by a knockout in the fourteenth round. It was a legitimate knockout. This writer sat within 15 feet of the scene and saw nothing that might be interpreted as a foul action on the part of the American, either by knee or fist.

Carp's Energy Gone

Carpentier had simply spent his energy in the first round, and was a wide-open mark for any sort of attack. And the conditions being reversed, in the matter of youth and stamina, I have no doubt but that the Frenchman would have won by a knockout before the sixth round.

Tunney has little genuine class and talk of matching him now with Dempsey is ridiculous. He is a fair body puncher, with a neat left hook, but is ordinary at long range. He is not a natural fighter and his punches lack the snap and kick that come with perfectly delivered, well timed blows. That dash and spontaneity you find in the instinctive fighter is lacking, too.

Here's One for the Book

Once during the tempestuous tenth round when the Frenchman went down for a count for the first time, Tunney showed his utter amateurism by feinting Carpentier while the latter stood motionless helpless with his arms dangling at his side. Imagine that, imagine!

To make your opponent lead or open up. But here was Carpentier with both hands motionless at his side, and Tunney feinting him. All Tunney had to do was to walk over and past him and the show would have been over.

The idea of the faint in boxing is over. You can check Tunney definitely on the Dempsey calling list along with Gibbons, and think Carpentier the trial horse for another illuminating demonstration. It saves you from a lot of ballyhooing and buncombe that would have come later.

RECORD SMASHED AT NABNASSETT

Another record was shattered at the Y.M.C.A. camp, Nabnassett, yesterday, when Richard Knowles made a circuit of the pond. Although others have made the swim in less time, Knowles have been able to make it in 15 minutes—one hour and fifteen minutes.

Under directions and personal instructions of Director Williams and Physical Director Towne, 35 young men have learned the art of life saving as well as of swimming.

Patrons of the "Y" camp, the Cotnam of Marlborough, have invited the entire camp to make a three day visit to the Coffin summer home at Marlborough next month. Three of the Coffin boys are staying at the "Y" camp now.

Astoria Inn Friend and Harry Russell are arranging a program of fishing parties, clam bakes and salt water sports for the trip.

Having taken almost $50,000 out of this country, it strikes us that Carpentier has thoroughly established his ability to take it, as the saying goes.

They call Georges the orchid man, and it was fitting that Tunney should say it with flowers. . . . Lilies, of course.

LOWELL WILL OBSERVE NEW ENGLAND WEEK

"New England Week" will be fittingly observed in Lowell. That "first problem" has been settled. There is every prospect of a city-wide observance, according to well known business men affiliated with several local business organizations carrying membership cards in various wholesale and retail trade associations in and outside of Lowell. Many citizens favor making it an "Old Home Week" and calling it just that.

Lowell chamber of commerce executives have not yet formulated any presentable program for a formal observance in celebration of the proposed trade boosting week from Sept. 15 to 20, inclusive, when New England merchants in large numbers will advertise their goods lavishly in order to interest new customers in "trading at home."

The local retail merchants' committee, at its first meeting last Monday, considered several attractive plans that might serve to boost Lowell-made merchandise, supporting wholeheartedly the New England-wide campaign as well.

There is a general disposition among active business men, to devote all possible energies to advertising local industries of every kind, providing at the same time a substantial display of Lowell-made goods in marks of trading and in some large hall for exhibition purposes.

Local chamber members have just received a report from the business men's committee representing Greater Boston, a band of hustlers, now hard at work on an "All New England" week organization. They are to campaign in groups—60 in all—each comprised of representative men engaged in representative industries. They promise to put all the strength of the city's business activities "back of the movement to boost New England"—and, of course, Boston first and last.

It was the thought of the committee now functioning in Boston, to make Sept. 15 to 20 a sort of re-narrated "Old Home Week" for New England industries—an opportunity to "get acquainted all over again." The effect of this would undoubtedly be to develop a demand at home, as well as abroad, for New England products.

It has been suggested that in Lowell, New England products be brought together for display in the windows of retail stores, and every retail establishment would be asked to trim its windows with goods made in New England, and, so far as possible, with goods made in the immediate neighborhood. The newspaper advertising campaign would be elaborate, also.

Wholesale houses will be asked to lend their efforts to the same end, and, with manufacturers, hold "open houses," providing facilities for the inspection of plant and goods that are New England's.

In Boston, thousands of buttons are being distributed, bearing the initials "New," meaning "New England Workers." These will be distributed in workshops and other industrial plants in the manufacturing community sections of New England.

The local retail merchants' committee has a most comprehensive plan under consideration for the proper observance of "New England Week," but there will be no public announcement for some time to come.

DOOMED BOB DIDN'T MEAN LA FOLLETTE

By HARRY B. HUNT
N.E.A. Service Writer
WASHINGTON, July 31.—"Bob Is Doomed," was the headline in a local paper which gave La Follette backers a shock as they set down to their bays and eaks the other morning.

Visions of some dark conspiracy against the independent presidential candidate raced through their minds. Nothing less, it seemed, could justify the definite, unqualified statement as set forth in black-faced type.

Horridly they pitched into the text of the story. Then they slumped back with sighs of relief.

For, it then dawned upon them, there are other "Bobs" than Bob La Follette. For instance, the Shingle Bob.

And the doom which was foretold in the printed piece was not the doom of Bob La Follette, decreed by his political adversaries, but the doom of the feminine hair bob, decreed by delegates to the National Beauty Shop convention!

But just as the loyal La Follette legion would have resisted any such claim against their favorite, so do the devotees of the feminine hair bob deny the right of the beauty shop buccaners to force them again under the slavery of long tresses.

Here in Washington, bobbed hair has

U. S. Shipping Board Steamer Has Mechanical Trouble Off Philippines

Steamer En Route From Shanghai Built Here—Launched After the War

MANILA, July 31.—(By the Associated Press)—The steamer Stanley, operated by the Admiral Line, is sending out S. O. S. calls from a point off the island of Palawan, one of the more southerly of the Philippine archipelago.

The vessel is owned by the United States shipping board. A wireless from her said her engine had broken down and that she was in need of assistance. The Stanley is bound for Europe with a general cargo.

The Stanley, a freight of 6363 tons gross, was built by the Skinner and Eddy corporation at Seattle, Wash., in 1919.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—The Stanley, according to available records here has been operating between New York, Hong Kong and Manila and was last reported out of Shanghai July 6.

HELD OUTING AT LAKEVIEW
The girls of the cooking class of the Green school held an enjoyable outing at Lakeview yesterday afternoon. Mrs. M. Miller, their instructor. A basket luncheon was enjoyed at noon following which a varied program of sports was carried off. The return to Lowell was made shortly after 4 o'clock.

passed the stage of a fad. It is no longer a mark of flapperism.

Maid and matron alike, from the breezy debutante to the stately dowager of the diplomatic set, flaunt their shorn locks as an index of a newly achieved independence.

They may have cut them first because it was "the style." But the bob's real popularity is due to its comfort, not to any mere matter of following the fashion.

In this battle for the survival of the "bobs," the following suggestion may not be inappropriate:

Why not organize the bobs for Bob? Since the old party war horses have Bob La Follette marked for the discard, just as the beauty parlor artists have decreed the doom of the feminine bobbed head, why not line up the Pompadour Bobs behind Fighting Bob and thereby corner at once the thousands of votes that are ready to fight for the right to keep short hair?

La Follette's platform declares against special privilege. The right to short hair must not be permitted to revert to an exclusively masculine right!

Let the bobs save Bob and Bob will save the bobs.

Democratic sloganizers are still searching for some happy phrase to offset the "Keep Cool With Coolidge" chant of the G.O.P.

The latest offering, submitted by Willard Baker of Alton, N. Y., is: "Keep Decent With Davis."

Answering the insinuation of this line, however, the La Follette camp comes back with the warning:

"Don't Throw Dirt on Bob and Burton."

While the republicans retort that the heat evident in the democratic slogan is additional reason the country should "Keep Cool and Keep Coolidge."

The aftermath of Senator Brookhart's renomination in Iowa, as the G. O. P. candidate for the senate, may be the entrance of John T. Adams, former chairman of the republican national committee, into the race as an "Independent."

Brookhart, the republican nominee, will support the candidacy of La Follette, the independent, for president. Adams, as an "Independent," would fight both Brookhart, the republican, and La Follette, the independent.

LONG COAT POPULAR

The three-quarter length coat or longer is the popular one for the fall suit, and the straight lines such as are featured on this model are the approved ones. Straps of the material, which is a very fine repp, are edged with white braid for trimming. The wearer, a Parisienne, is showing the type of large hat that Paris is turning to as a relief from the small cloche or tricorne.

SAY SOLDIERS KILLED 19 IN MACEDONIA

SOFIA, Bulgaria, July 31.—Nineteen Bulgarian peasants are alleged to have been shot by a squad of Greek military men in Grecian Macedonia, according to the Bulgarian Telegraphic agency, which cites a despatch from the under-secret of Petrich.

This official said four peasants told him they were among 25 who were seized and bound by the Greeks upon orders from Greek officers at the frontier near the village of Tircho, and shot down, only seven escaping. Another group of 15 Bulgarians were seized and taken to the same spot, the peasants said, but their fate was unknown.

The Bulgarian government is said to have made a vigorous protest to the Greek government and asked that the international Greco-Bulgarian emigration commission make an immediate investigation.

COULD NOT WALK BECAUSE OF PAIN

Bad Case of Woman's Illness Remedied by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Louis, Mo.—"I had such a bad case of female trouble that I could not walk because of the pains from inflammation. My back was all done up. I could hardly bend, could not go up stairs because of weakness, and no one could possibly be in worse shape than I was. I have taken 12 bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am a strong woman now and can work down any of my neighbors. They wonder how I can do so much work. I dare say that I have recommended your medicine to a thousand women. A little book was thrown at my door, and that is how I first learned of it."—Mrs. D. M. BEAUCHAMP, 1101 Morrison Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri.

Letters like this bring out the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They tell of the relief from such pains and ailments after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, 88 out of every 100 report they were benefited by its use. For sale by druggists everywhere.

BRITISH CABINET WOULD REVISE PART OF IRISH TREATY

Privy Council Judicial Committee in Special Session Unanimously Favors Treaty Change as Only Feasible Way to Adjust Boundary Dispute

LONDON, July 31.—(By the Associated Press)—The Irish boundary problem has suddenly become acute again in consequence of the unanimous decision of the privy council's judicial committee to the effect that the only way to constitute the boundary commission provided for in the Anglo-Irish treaty is to amend the treaty by new legislation in the imperial parliament, binding both the northern and southern Irish governments.

The British cabinet was summoned to a special meeting last evening to consider the position, which, according to several of the parliamentary correspondents is causing the ministers considerable anxiety. In view of the extreme delicacy of the situation the cabinet decided to be said, to invite the British signatories of the Anglo-Irish treaty and the leaders of the other British political parties to confer immediately.

The general belief is that the government will be reluctant to introduce new legislation this late date in the parliamentary session, but several of the ministers are urging that unless an amending bill is brought in immediately a settlement made, the republican movement in southern Ireland, will force the Free State out of existence and bring about establishment of a republic.

MOVE MONUMENT FOR TROLLEY CAR LINE

ROME, July 31.—(By the Associated Press)—The famous Dogali monument, which for 30 years has been the first object of art to greet thousands of tourists as they stepped off the train in Rome, stands just opposite the main railway station—in its removal to another part of the city to make room for a street car line.

The monument, a slender Egyptian obelisk of exceptional grace of line, was erected in honor of the first 500 Italian soldiers killed in the battle of Dogali, during the Abyssinian war.

NERVOUS TREMOR IN THE STOMACH

Common Symptom of Nervous Dyspepsia Which Yields to Right Treatment

Mrs. Mary Vinay, of No. 28 Brattle street, Portland, Me., was in an extremely nervous condition for two years. "At times," she says, "I would tremble all over and could not hold anything steady in my hands. After eating I had a nervous trembling in my stomach. I had sour stomach and nausea. I was dizzy a great deal and did not know what a good night's rest was. My circulation was so poor I was cold on the hottest day."

"After trying other medicines without benefit I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and before I had taken them a week I was better. The trembling sensations went away. The improvement continued and I had no more indigestion and heartburn. I can eat a good meal now without distress afterward. My circulation is good and I no longer have dizzy spells. I cannot say too much for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, sixty cents per box, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Write for free booklet on nervous disorders.—Adv.

EVERETT TRUE

COMMON SENSE

When a merchant advertises his wares in a newspaper, he does not appeal to the paper, but to its readers. He solicits the patronage of those readers whether he agrees with the policy of the paper or not.

To refrain from advertising in a paper of wide circulation simply because he does not agree with the editor on all public questions, is not using common sense. It is a form of business suicide. It has sent many short-sighted business men into bankruptcy. A dealer might as well put a sign over his store notifying all who do not think as he does that he does not want their patronage. Readers of newspaper advertisements know when and where their patronage is welcome.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 10

One of the sailors had packed a pair of field glasses in his blouse and he took them out and started looking far out across the great spread of ice. "What do you see?" asked Jack. "Why," replied the sailor, "it looks like an Eskimo's home. Let's skate over to it. It isn't far."

And, sure enough, when Jack and Flip and the two sailors reached the little mound of ice and snow, it was found to be a regular little Eskimo's snow house. "Look inside," suggested one of the sailors. So Jack got down on his knees and peered through the little rounded opening.

"There is no one in there," said the little adventurer. "All I can see is a lot of white furs and a little fur suit." "Crawl in and get the suit," laughed one of the sailors. "Maybe it will fit you." Jack decided that it wouldn't hurt to try it on, so he went inside of the snow house. (Continued.)

MARSHMALLOW TOAST

A successful marshmallow toast was conducted yesterday afternoon by the children of the Shedd park playgrounds. Under the supervision of Raymond Liston, former football star, and Miss Alice Lennon, the party, well supplied with marshmallows, entered the woods. Fun and merry-making caused the afternoon to pass with almost magical swiftness and when evening arrived, demands were made by the children for another holiday. Their request will be granted in the near future.

FOUR SHOT IN KLAN CLASH NEAR HAVERHILL FOLLOWING INITIATION

Police Make 23 Arrests, Some Prisoners Being Wounded
—Confiscated Firearms and Disperse Milling Mob of Nearly 8000 Persons—Arrests Are Evenly Divided

HAVERHILL, July 31.—Four men were shot here early today when hostile crowds clashed with between 3000 and 5000 members of the Ku Klux Klan who held a meeting lasting into the early morning on a hill in the neighborhood of Groveland. The police, taking into custody 23 men, including three of the wounded men, and confiscated six shotguns, several revolvers and quantities of ammunition. The disorders broke out at the conclusion of a Klan initiation ceremony on Perry Hill, Groveland, and continued as nearly 1000 automobiles bearing Klansmen from Worcester, Boston, Springfield and other cities traveled from the meeting place, homeward over the road toward Haverhill. Shots were fired and many missiles were thrown at the moving cars, only four men were known to have been injured. None of the injured men, all of whom suffered gunshot wounds in the legs, was believed to be dangerously hurt.

Say Klan Opened Fire
The wounded men, James Connolly, Francis Cutler, Edmund Lucey and a fourth named Buckley, all of Haverhill, were in one automobile. They alleged that they were fired upon by Klansmen in a large truck, when they attempted to pass the vehicle after state police had signalled them to move ahead. Approximately half of the score of men arrested were Haverhill residents and the others were from Massachusetts cities as far west as Worcester. All were charged with disturbing the peace.

300 Armed Guards There
About 300 armed guards surrounded the ten-acre field in Groveland, in which the ceremonies were in progress last night, witnesses said. A crowd of 400 men collected outside the field, but, although hostile, no disturbance arose until about 1 o'clock this morning, when the meeting ended.

Chief Saunders Recommends White Apparatus

service and cites as an example their sending to this city uncollected the night of the Associate building fire two pieces of apparatus worth $20,000 from Boston for the local department to use so long as necessary without charge. It is expected the award of contracts for the apparatus will be made within very short time now that the purchasing agent has the chief's recommendation.

The chief's letter to the purchasing agent follows:
"Am in receipt of your letter of July 23, inviting an expression of my opinion and recommendations relative to the purchase of fire apparatus now under consideration by your office. Permit me to thank you for your courteous privilege and in accordance with your invitation to present for your consideration the following recommendations:

"It is my best judgment that a standardization of motor fire apparatus tends for greater efficiency in the operation of the fire department for two reasons: A decreased cost and upkeep and general repairs, and quick replacement of parts due to accidents, and a more capable handling of fire apparatus by members of the department due to familiarity with the standardized type of apparatus. In accordance with this viewpoint, I recom-

and the Klansmen, openly armed, witnesses said, marched out of the field beside the cars as a measure of precaution against attack. Large numbers of the Klan group were apparently former service men, wearing army uniforms.

Stones were hurled at the machines and occasional shots were fired as the Klansmen, riding in their cars, drove toward Haverhill. The firing and stone-throwing increased as the Klansmen entered Haverhill and it was in Haverhill that all of the arrests were made, 13 by Haverhill police and 10 by state patrolmen. Arrests appeared to be approximately evenly divided between persons attending the Klan meeting and opposition.

The men arrested in connection with the disturbance were brought into the district court today for a hearing. Because of the number of defendants and the amount of testimony to be heard court officials expressed the opinion that the proceedings would not be ended before late in the day.

Police officials testifying at the trial of 20 Klansmen and one anti-Klansman in district court this morning, charged with disturbing the peace, declared that Groveland street near the Groveland street fire station, was defended by shotgun reports and loud shouting at 1:30 this morning, as the near riot between the Klansmen and anti-Klansmen was in full progress.

Officer Joseph Doozian and John A. McGowan, testified that they heard shotguns fired, heard Klansmen shouting and cheering. They found shotguns in the possession of the men they arrested.

Traffic on Groveland street was blocked by the Klansmen's automobiles which were stalled for a distance of several hundred feet, according to the police witnesses.
Sergeant William A. Gavin said he saw a Klansman jump from an automobile and run up Eastern avenue, armed with a shotgun.
The court recessed at noon for a half hour. The case will last all afternoon.

New District Court Building distinct court rooms, an entire wing devoted exclusively to probatory work, many conference rooms, private suites for judges, a large area for the business of the clerk, a spacious lobby, adequate detention rooms, a fraternity room for attorneys and splendid lavatory and toilet facilities for both men and women.

The building construction will be of brick and stone. It will be two stories in height and will have a frontage on Hurd street of more than one hundred feet. In addition to the main public entrance in Hurd street, which will lead into a marble and tiled-floor lobby, 30 feet square and extending up to the roof, there are private entrances for judges and a private entrance on the east side for the use of the probation department. An entrance for prisoners is in the rear, leading to the basement, to be used for patrol delivery. A driveway from Hurd street circles to the rear of the building where also there will be considerable automobile parking space.

The ground floor plan, where most of the business of the court will transpire, is of great interest. On that floor will be the main court room for the daily transaction of district court criminal business. It is 35 feet by 45 feet in size and is directly beyond the main lobby. To the right of the main entrance door is the clerk's department and to the left the probatory division. The working space for the clerk's office, a public space, a clerk's private office and record vault are compact and adjoining. The clerk's private office will be located at the immediate right of the entrance and will be the first door after reaching the lobby.

The judge's suite of offices is on the right of the lobby and adjacent to the criminal court room. There also is a judge's lobby, private consultation rooms and every comfort and convenience. The judge will not have to pass through any public area to reach the court room from the street. The private office of the court will include a fireplace in its appointments and in keeping with the rest of the building will be finished in oak.

In the probation wing are three private offices and a large public space. There will be a woman's retiring room and a special office for police women, leading into the court room on the east street of the attorneys' room.

The second floor will contain second and third sessions court rooms, either of which may be used for juvenile or civil sessions. There are three conference rooms on this floor and a combination library, hearing room and poor debtor's room.

Plans also have been made for a fourth court room in the basement, but unless necessity arises, it will not be furnished when the building first is constructed. Also in the basement will be located men's and women's detention rooms, storage rooms, record rooms, a room for the matron and another for the janitor and, of course, the necessary space for boiler and coal pockets. All patrol delivery will be made directly into detention rooms at the rear of the building.

After today's conference, Architect Greco will put the plans into final suggestion offered and when approved by the county commissioners will be ready to advertise for construction shape, taking into consideration the bids.

Gompers for Neutrality

contained in Mr. Gompers' declaration that labor proposes to show politicians and political parties that it is "not to be defied with impunity." From this the La Follette-Wheeler faction believe that the way is still open for an informed movement of their candidates, minus any A. F. of L. share in their third party projects.

If the Gompers statement does carry such an intimation it means simply that both Senators La Follette and Wheeler will be endorsed as individuals on their records in congress and elsewhere in behalf of labor and on their statement of the principles for which they stand. So far no political action the executive council will take. Mr. Gompers says that the minds of the committee members are open but that once a decision is reached labor will throw its full weight behind the program laid down by the council.

Fight Is Forecast
The one certain fact which stands out is that there will be a loud and insistent effort by the representatives of unions that already have gone over to the La Follette-Wheeler camp for a flat-footed endorsement of that ticket. Those closest to Mr. Gompers admit it is a spirited and perhaps prolonged fight is forecast.

Mr. Gompers' party was the first of the labor contingent to arrive and take up headquarters at the Ambassador hotel. The party came from New York by boat. The labor chief stood the seven-hour sail well, and almost as soon as he arrived gave out the following statement:
"The meetings of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, which are to be held here, will continue over a period of several days and will deal with questions of vital interest to the labor movement and to our people generally.

HERRIOT OFFERS NEW PROPOSALS

French Premier Suggests New Steps to the Inter-Allied Conference

LONDON, July 31 (By the Associated Press).—The inter-allied reparations conference took a new lease of life today when the experts assembled to consider the new French proposals presented by Premier Herriot yesterday.

The British participants in the conference view the French plan as the greatest effort yet made to bring about a settlement of the conference difficulties so that the Dawes plan can be put into operation and they are of the opinion that it will be a great step toward final settlement.

The plan was laid before the experts at noon. After considering it for an hour, the committee adjourned until 3 p.m. One of the points of the French proposal provides for a board of arbitration, calculated to make a declaration of default on the part of Germany by the reparations commission much more difficult to obtain than now.

Another provision for setting up machinery to take care of defects which might develop in the working of the Dawes plan, and still another establishes guarantees against Germany maneuvering out of payments in kind. According to a French semi-official source, the proposal also provides for the evacuation of the Ruhr in successive steps as the securities issued under the Dawes plan are floated.

COOLIDGES TO KEEP SON HOME

John Will Not Be Allowed To Attend Camp Devens This Summer

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Plans made by President and Mrs. Coolidge to permit their son, John, to attend the citizens' military camp this summer at Camp Devens, Mass., have been abandoned and John will remain with his parents at the White House until fall, when he enters Amherst college.

It was the plan and desire of Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge at the time school closed last June that both John and his brother, Calvin, Jr., should attend the camp, but since the death of the latter, the question of John's attendance at the camp has been held in abeyance. John has been spending almost all of his time with his mother, and his presence was found to be such a comfort to her that the president finally decided it would be better for him to remain here until school opens.

Volunteer Enrollment for Summer Encampment—and War Program Maneuvers Largest Ever Known From This District—New England Quota Increased to 3400

Uncle Sam has called a hundred thousand red-blooded American young men to the colors. Lowell has responded by contributing 27 patriotic young men, ranging in ages from 17 to 24 years, who leave their homes and places of employment tomorrow morning, bound for Camp Devens and the annual "citizens' military training camps." The volunteer enrollment of enthusiastic males for the summer encampment and war program maneuvers, calls for 30 days' training under the direction of the war department.

Colonel Charles A. Stevens is Middlesex district chairman of the Military Training Camps association, with headquarters in Lowell and Room 316, 84 State street, Boston. Lieutenant George O. Robertson of Lowell, is the local chairman. These able executives declared today that the enrollment for the training camp of 1924 from this district is the largest ever known.

All over New England, district quotas were filled very early. Because many young men unable to enroll in many districts were greatly disappointed, regular army officials at headquarters

ATLANTIC CITY, N. Thomas H. Varnum Named For Important Post at Merrimack River Bank

At a meeting this forenoon of the trustees of the Merrimack River Savings bank, Thomas H. Varnum, for the past few months assistant, treasurer and for 20 years prior to that a clerk of the institution, was elected treasurer to succeed Franklin B. Johnson, who died in May of this year. Later Mr. Varnum became chief clerk and was an active member of the institution long before its removal from Middlesex street to its present splendid home in Central street. On November 1, 1923, he was elected assistant treasurer, a position created at that time.

MAIL SEIZURE IS PREVENTED

Clerk Loading Bags at Station Returns Fire and Kills Bandit

Pal of Desperado Turns and Runs Into Taxicab Waiting Nearby

EAST ORANGE, N. J., July 31.—One bandit was killed, one escaped and a mail clerk was wounded twice when he frustrated an attempted mail robbery at the Lackawanna railroad station early today.

Eugene Stack, 23, mail clerk, employed at the local postoffice, is in the Orange Memorial hospital with bullet wounds in the right thumb and the right leg as the result of his refusal of the bandit, who had, it is believed, tried to steal a mail pouch carrying federal reserve packages. The escaped bandit got away in a taxi which is believed to have been driven by a confederate.

Robbers Were on Train

Stack, who has been attached to the local postoffice but six months, as regular duty, went to the station to meet the early newspaper train and had taken off six pouches when two men got off the train and limped towards him.

Stack was piling the sacks on an open elevator to descend to the street floor. Near him was Assistant Baggage Master Golden B. Treadwell.

Fire Without Word

The bandits opened fire without warning and it was immediately returned by Stack. One bandit fell dead at the top of the stairway and plunged to the bottom. The other fled to the street, where Stack saw him enter the taxi and he rushed away.

Stack walked across to the postoffice where an ambulance was summoned and he was taken to the hospital.

THEIR ANNUAL OUTING

Children of French-American Orphanage Guests of Dr. Gagnon at Beach

The annual outing of the children of the French-American orphanage, at Salisbury beach, a yearly treat given by Dr. A. J. Gagnon, was held today. Shortly after 9 o'clock this morning, 25 machines, gaily decorated with American flags, wended their way through the square bound for the popular summer resort. The children, boys and girls, accompanied by their teachers, the Gray Nuns of St. Joseph, laughed merrily as they gleefully waved to passersby.

The party arrived at the beach at 10:30 o'clock and the time before dinner was spent in romping and playing about in the sand, building sand dunes, "playing house" and various games. At 1 o'clock a delicious shore dinner with plenty of ice cream and sweets was served the little guests. Favors of all descriptions were distributed and the children made a pretty picture as they left the dining hall, the girls wearing vari-colored hats and the boys sporting canes and noise-making affairs.

The afternoon was devoted to sports of all kinds and the little ones were allowed free scope. Participation in the various amusements at the beach, including the "Jack Rabbit" hobby-horses, roller coasters and other forms of entertainment provided many happily crowded minutes.

A luncheon was served prior to the start home and with hearts filled with joy and gratefulness the children trotted back to their "little city" in Pawtucket street, tired yet happy after one of the most enjoyable treats of the year.

NEW DISTRICT COURT BUILDING TO HAVE FOUR COURT ROOMS

Plans Discussed Today With Judges and Clerk Show That Structure Will Be One of Finest in County For Transaction of Civil and Criminal Business

Persons particularly interested in the construction of a new district court house building for Lowell, including Judge Thomas J. Enright, Associate Justice John J. Pickman, Clerk of Courts Edward W. Trull, United States Commissioner Richard B. Walsh, members of the Lowell Bar association, County Commissioner Erson B. Barlow and County Architect Charles R. Green met in conference this forenoon in the library of the court building in Market street and went over the building plans in minutest detail. Court business in Lowell prevented the attendance of Daniel J. Donahue, president of the bar association.

In the main the plans were fairly well established before the conference, that is, the general layout was fixed, but not to such an extent as to prevent changes and alterations in compliance with suggestions from the court, the clerk and the lawyers.

Architecturally the building will be most attractive and a perusal of the plans brings the impression that the interior as well will be of harmonious designs and of advanced accommodations and comfort.

There will be in the building four courtrooms.

CHIEF SAUNDERS RECOMMENDS THE WHITE APPARATUS

Fire Department Head Sends Letter to Purchasing Agent in Connection With Awards—States Reasons For Recommending White Machines

Fire Chief Edward F. Saunders, in a letter to the purchasing agent today commends the latter's request for recommendation in connection with the award of contracts for three triple-combination pumping engines and one aerial ladder equipped with tractor, recommends the purchase of White triple-combination and an air-operated aerial ladder equipped with White tractor.

The reason for his choice of White machines, the chief says, is to standardize the department as this tends to greater efficiency for two reasons, a decreased cost of upkeep and quick replacement of parts, and a more capable handling of the apparatus by fire department members due to familiarity with the standard type of machine.

The chief's reason for recommending an air-operated aerial ladder rather than a spring operated one, is on the grounds that in a city such as Lowell an aerial ladder truck is likely to be used, but seldom and the air-hoist is less likely to get out of order. The air-hoist ladder costs approximately $2000 more than the spring-hoist type.

The chief also commends the White people highly for their very efficient

LOWELL OFFICER CATCHES ALLEGED MURDERER IN BILLERICA

Aroused to Action by Frantic Cry of "Catch That Man, He Murdered Two Families"—Charge Against Man Arrested, However, is That of Larceny

Aroused to action by the frantic cry of "Catch that man, he murdered two families," uttered by three men in an automobile as the machine sped up Gosham street in hot pursuit of a taxicab at 7 o'clock this morning, Police Officer Thomas O'Sullivan gave chase in his motorcycle and North Billerica overtook Abraham Frank, 53, wanted in Lawrence for the larceny of $2400 from Max Cohen, a meat dealer. The whereabouts of Frank, who has been missing since the theft took place last May, was made known to the police last night when a group of local men, acquaintances of Cohen, informed headquarters that the suspect was trying to work a "money" game in this city. Early this morning, Officer Frank O'Dea was assigned to the case and was following up a clue when Officer O'Sullivan's timely appearance brought the matter to a conclusion.

The latter was proceeding to the station on his motorcycle to begin his day's work when he was attracted by the unusual cries of the men in the machine. Literally interpreting their excited message of "murder," he about-faced his motorcycle and gave chase to the taxicab containing the fugitive. Out Gosham street, through East Chelmsford and to North Billerica, the chase extended, with the motorcycle steadily gaining ground

Lowell Young Men At Training Camp

Continued
The first of the first corps area, Boston, decided to increase the New England quota from 3100 to 3400.

Lieut. Robertson announced that morning that if any more young men in the Lowell district desire to enroll for the August military training maneuvers, they may report at Camp Devens on and after tomorrow, and, if eligible, will be allowed to join their local comrades in the coming field and camp maneuvers. Not many more can be taken in, but there is room for at least 20 on the local rolls.

The local contingent will report in camp before tomorrow night. There will be no movement to Devens in a body. Several Lowell young men have already reported at "C.M.T.C." headquarters. The "early birds" included Thurlow MacBraynes, Loring Barrows, Richard Gray and Clarence MacCallum. They left Lowell four days ago and boldly attached themselves to a company of the Fifth Infantry, U.S.A., the parent organization of the "C.M.T.C."

Lowell Enlistments

Training Courses

There are four military training courses to be taken up this year by the youthful soldiers. The courses are called, "the basic red, the advanced red, the white and the blue." For the basic red course, ages 17 to 24, no previous military training is required. This course provides preliminary military training, including physical development, athletic, school of the soldier, squad and company drill, rifle marksmanship, camp sanitation, personal hygiene, military courtesy, meaning of discipline and studies in citizenship.

The advanced red course, ages 17 to 24, calls for enrollees to be graduates of the basic red course or have had military training equivalent thereto. This course provides training in different branches of the army, infantry, field artillery, coast artillery, corps of engineers, cavalry and signal corps. The white course, ages 18 to 24, requires members to have grammar school education or its equivalent. This course provides advanced training in the above named branches. In the blue course, the enrollees are to 24. Educational requirements will be those prescribed for appointment as second lieutenants in the officers' reserve corps. This course provides training with the object of qualifying selected warrant officers and enlisted men of the regular army, national guard and enlisted reserve corps who have completed the white course or its equivalent, for service as second lieutenants.

It is planned to have every Lowell youth enrolled before sunset tomorrow night. Many will go to Camp Devens today. Upon reporting at "C.M.T.C." headquarters, each boy will be enrolled in the course he belongs in, then will be issued uniforms and equipment, directed to quarters prepared and later instructed on the duties he is to perform while in barracks.

Each state had civilian aides at the camp today, and when the influx of young embryo soldiers reaches the enrollment station, they will be taken care of under the direction of these official aides. The state civilians appointed for these important berths are as follows:

Enrollment Preparations
Preparations for the August encampment of New England youth have been made on a more comprehensive scale this year than ever before. Barracks beyond Infantry Hill have been newly repaired and cleaned, the grounds have been levelled, white stones mark driveways, lawns in front of headquarters and company streets. The roads leading from the entrance gate of Camp Devens to the "C. M. T. C." camp have been repaired and oiled.

Relatives and friends of the Lowell boys will be welcome to visit camp any time during regulation hours, and will find a camp location and living quarters second to none in any military encampment in the country. More than $10,000 was spent this spring in possibilities of improving the situation and recommends the new main, staking it will provide a pressure of 10 pounds at the highest hydrants in the section.

Additional Water Main For Fire Protection

Another suggestion included in the recommendation, is that the high service reservoir be rebuilt and its height raised 20 feet. As this would call for the employment of experienced men, rather than furnishing employment for the unemployed, it is not recommended as providing any relief for the unemployment situation.

At the present time a 12-inch main supplies the Belvidere district and if this were to break the entire district would be without water for fire protection or domestic usage.

In connection with the domestic water supply, Engineer Barbour states that even with the proposed 12-inch main in place, there might possibly be some houses on the top of Belvidere hill where it would be well nigh impossible to get any water pressure on the second floor.

FOREIGN COTTON

Increased cotton acreage in foreign countries has been a source of much concern. The reason is the larger districts are far from European markets and in countries having more or less primitive agricultural methods.

preparing the Devens "C. M. T. C." health
Major A. W. Brewster, U. S. A., commanding officer of the First Corps area, issued a widely-circulated statement yesterday, welcoming the boys of New England to the 1924 training camp, said:

"The best guarantee that our national institutions will be perpetuated rests in a virile citizenry, imbued with love of country, and an appreciation of the rights and duties of the nation and of the individual."

"Citizens' Military Training camp takes our young men and develops in them rugged manliness, worthy ideals, teaches them to obey the law willingly, and to co-operate in its enforcement—in other words, this training prepares them for the duties and responsibilities of American citizenship."

Lieut. Robertson gave the Lowell Sun today a summary of the Aug. 1-30 military training program in which career, red blooded Lowell youth are to play a highly important part this year:

"There will be 30 days of camping. Railroad fare, food, lodging, uniforms, medical and dental attention are all free. Military, physical, mental and moral training will be under expert supervision at all times. There will be religious services of all denominations. Athletics, swimming, calisthenics, moving picture entertainments and social amusements for all."

"The boys will learn to ride horses, shoot pistols or rifle, machine guns and field pieces. And everything is free—health, education and recreation; good, wholesome nutritious food in plenty, with 3000 real, live American buddies all training in infantry, cavalry and field artillery demonstrations, hikes and maneuvers, a gala night spent in the open air from camp with breakfast from the regulation campfire."

Presidential Nominee in Accord With Nebraskan's Sentiments on Defense Day

Says This is Time to Get Back to Peace and Work, Not War

NEW YORK, July 31.—John W. Davis, democratic presidential candidate, announced today after his return from Maine that he was in entire accord with his running mate, Gov. Bryan of Nebraska, regarding "mobilization day."

Thomas J. Spellacy of Hartford, Ct., will have charge of the Davis eastern campaign headquarters, it was announced today.

Mr. Davis declared that the view expressed by Gov. Bryan that there was no necessity at this time for encouraging civilians to leave their occupations "for the purpose of engaging in what would be only a military demonstration without any practical educational effect is entirely sound."

"Mr. Davis' announcement was contained in a formal statement issued after he had conferred with his campaign manager, Clem L. Shaver. It said:

"Since my return from the state of Maine, I have taken the occasion to inform myself fully concerning the views expressed by the governor of Nebraska in regard to 'mobilization day.'"

"I am surprised at the statement which I see in the press to the effect that I am in disagreement with him or that his action has in any way proven an embarrassment to me. On the contrary, I think that the view expressed by the governor of Nebraska at this time to encourage civilians to leave their occupations for the purpose of engaging in what would only be a practical educational effect is entirely sound."

"It is one thing to keep the military organizations of the country in adequate practice; it is quite another to encourage demonstrations, which have nothing else at a time when every energy should be bent to getting world back to peace and to work, calling the prejudices and passions growing out of the World war and encouraging fruitful trade and commerce. In all these America should take the lead."

Leopold-Loeb Prosecutor Quotes Old Darrow Claim as Precedent

Insists Evidence of Depravity Not Admissible in Mitigation of Murder

CHICAGO, July 31. (By the Associated Press.)—One of the cases which Robert E. Crowe, now state's attorney heard when he was a judge and Clarence S. Darrow, attorney for the defense, was cited today in the Franks trial when the state tried to maintain that evidence of depravity was not admissible in mitigation of punishment for Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb.

The citation brought a heated exchange between Messrs. Crowe and Darrow today, the former maintaining he had not heard such evidence in mitigation of punishment.

"Oh, yes you did," asserted Mr. Darrow.

The demonstration faded quickly under the frown of Judge Caverly.

Largest Crowd Ever
The hearing was set today for an opening 30 minutes later than previously. This served only to increase the crowd clamoring for entrance.

The early part of the session promised little more than that to appear the interest of the visitors, since Thomas Marshall, indictment and legal research expert for Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, left unfinished yesterday his citing of precedents from other commonwealths to prevent Judge Caverly hearing as a mitigating circumstance the testimony of various alienists called by the defense. Dr. William White of Washington, D. C., rested comfortably four and a half hours on the witness stand yesterday, while the state and defense argued as to the admissibility of the evidence the prosecution thought he would be called upon to give.

"Legal insanity decides responsibility for crime," he said. "First they plead guilty, acknowledge guilty responsibility, then offer in mitigation of punishment testimony which tends to remove responsibility."

He emphasized again that the question of sanity is one for a jury to determine.

Argue On Law Points
Court convened at 10:33 a. m., and Judge Caverly brought several law books into court. Dr. White climbed into the witness chair and the attorneys grouped themselves in front of the bench preparatory to a resumption of the argument.

Judge Caverly told the prosecution that all the cases cited yesterday were cases in which a plea of not guilty had been entered and the cases tried by juries and that, therefore, they were not applicable in the present instance. The court cited a Pennsylvania decision which he held ran testimony in mitigation of punishment along lines similar to the Franks case so far and it indicated that alienists had been heard by that court.

Judge Caverly said that in the Pennsylvania case it was held that a plea of guilty automatically made the insanity question irrelevant. He said it was held that the state might then introduce testimony to raise the offense to first degree murder.

"Well, we have raised the offense in this case," interjected Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, "and understand it."

"I just wished to make that point clear," said the court.

Would Have Time Limit
Clarence S. Darrow, chief counsel for the defense, wanted a time limit put upon the testimony of the alienists in the case.

Mr. Marshall insisted that the state did not object to presentation of the testimony.

LA FOLLETTE LEADERS
WATCHING A. F. OF L.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Campaign activities in behalf of the La Follette-Wheeler presidential ticket were temporarily at low ebb today, with the interest of leaders turned chiefly to ward the meeting at Atlantic City of the national executive committee of the American Federation of Labor. A number of labor union executives attending the meeting are pledged to support a move to throw the federation's support to the La Follette ticket as a whole, which would be a sharp departure from its previous political policy. At an early date campaign workers said today, a program will be worked out to guide the efforts of the candidates themselves. Neither, however, is expected to take the road for stump speaking much after Sept. 1.

Always Good!

FOR every bread use, Betsy Ross is sure to please. Its genuinely good taste is always noticed, no matter whether you serve it in the usual way, or make it up into one of the many delicious bread dishes most families like so well. Try one of your favorite recipes, using Betsy Ross where bread is called for, and see how much better it tastes.

There's rich nourishment as well as fine flavor in this popular loaf. A liberal measure of milk is used in its making, and you know how good milk makes anything in which it is used. You know, too, that milk is one of the most nutritious of foods. It gives all its food value to Betsy Ross.

Old Home Potato Bread

No doubt you look back with pleasure at the time when mother made her own bread. If so, you'll surely enjoy Old Home, for it's made as mother made her bread, and it has the same fine flavor hers always had. Ask for a loaf at your grocer's.

Screen "Comebacks" Far Easier Than Breaking InVIRGINIA LEE CORBIN TODAY AND WHEN SHE BROKE IN ON THE SCREEN

BY A. H. FREDERICK
NEA Service Writer

HOLLYWOOD, July 30.—Consistent shibboleth of the movie world is this: "the screen needs new faces."

Picture-making today is as much a business, conducted on investment principles, as is the grocery or butcher-shop. No more than the proprietors of these does the producer invest heavily in some untried stock. That's why your potential luminaries go home again in vast droves, having got no farther than the barred passageways of the outer casting offices.

The moderating phase is an occasional gamble, such as in the case of Valentino. But the gambles are very occasional—and often disastrous.

Returns to the screen are much easier. In this case there is the guarantee of screen personality, that indefinable subtly which makes and holds friends, and a background of experience more reassuring than participation in the high school class play. With those the producer may get a moderate amount of sleep between shooting of the last scene and public judgment.

Two such returns or "comebacks" are now in process of being made, both by former stars who have been absent from the screen for several years. And, both being under proven directorship, odds are heavy that two new names soon will be firmly established in current numbers of "Who's Who in Hollywood."

Marguerite Snow, former wife of Director James Cruze, relieved from most onerous cares of motherhood by growth of her daughter past the toddler age, is preparing her debut in "Chalk Marks," a Frank E. Woods production.

Miss Snow starred in many pictures, the last being "Lavender and Old Lace," in 1921, but is best remembered for the thriller she furnished us in "The Million Dollar Mystery," serial melodrama of a few years back.

She returns, however, not to melodrama, but via a play of serious import and dramatic complications. Second of the comebacks is Virginia Lee Corbin, who takes this manner of answering in so far as she is concerned the oft-repeated question, "What becomes of the child stars?"

Having made two pictures for Goldwyn, "Mary the III" and "Free Love," Miss Corbin, yet to celebrate her 16th birthday, is appearing in "A Drama of the Night," a Paramount production being directed by James Cruze.

Some Families Are Never Ill

FORTUNATE are the children whose parents fully realize the seriousness of constipation. Hospital records prove that 75 per cent of all disease originates in bowel obstruction, or constipation. Young children cry because of it; school children are hampered in their studies; grown people are made 25 per cent less efficient; elderly people's blood pressure increases 28 per cent. Realizing this Mrs. Carrie Moss of 1714 Church st., Lynchburg Va., Mr. Louis C. Grah of 1569 Winton ave., Lakewood, Ohio, and innumerable others, give a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at the first sign of constipation, and have no sickness among their children.

Largest Selling Laxative

Every up-to-date family medicine chest should contain a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and palatable aromatics, a prescription written 30 years ago by Dr. W. B. Caldwell, who practiced medicine 47 years. You can buy a bottle in any store where medicines are sold, and the cost is less than a cent a dose. We guarantee that if you will give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to a child for a few nights to an adult it will relieve any case of constipation no matter how chronic, or your money will be refunded.

10 Million Bottles a Year

Use it once and you will never again take coal-tar drugs in candy form, calomel or salts. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a vegetable laxative free from opiates and narcotics. It can be safely given to infants, yet it effectively moves the bowels of adults. It acts gently; does not cramp or grip. Keep it in the house and use it for any indication of bowel obstruction such as constipation, biliousness, torpid liver, dyspepsia, pimples and like skin eruptions. Give it early and it will break up a fever or a cold overnight. A spoonful proves it.

NONE INJURED WHEN CAR IS DEMOLISHED

An automobile with a Maine registration was demolished on the Lowell-Lawrence road at 6.30 p. m. yesterday when struck by a Lowell-bound electric car about opposite the Matheson armory. Two young men in the machine escaped injuries. Persons who saw the accident say that the automobile came onto the state road from a side street and that the driver stopped it directly on the tracks in front of the approaching electric. One step and three windows in the electric car were broken.

Wife Finds Time for Social Duties, Care of Children and Writing

MRS. FRANCES PARKINSON KEYES

BY HORTENSE SAUNDERS

WASHINGTON, July 31.—In the midst of her social duties in Washington and her responsibilities as the wife of a politician and the mother of three sons, Frances Parkinson Keyes finds time for the career she has always cherished—that of an author.

For latest book, "Letters From a Senator's Wife," should be on the required reading list of every woman who contemplates living in Washington or taking any part in official life. It will save the fledgling politician's wife many embarrassments and prepare her intelligently for what is to come.

When her husband, who is the senator from New Hampshire, entered upon his official duties in Washington, Mrs. Keyes found herself facing a job just as new and trying as that of being a senator's wife. She recounts her first experience with the utmost candor and does not hesitate to mention her first faux pas as well as her triumphs, and her series of letters gives a very interesting sketch of social life in Washington.

Lived in Country

She maintains a constant appreciation of the advantages of Washington society, a kindly tolerance for all its formalities and seems never to forget what the folks back home want to hear about.

"Because," she told me very frankly, "I know what it is to live in the country, more or less cut off from people who seem to be doing things and having an exciting life. The first years of my married life were spent that way."

"I know what mother wants to read in these few minutes after the last baby has been put to bed and the household duties have been brought to the point where they may be safely deferred and carried over to the next day."

"I know what it is to carry about in my head all sorts of stories and plots that you simply haven't got time to get down on paper."

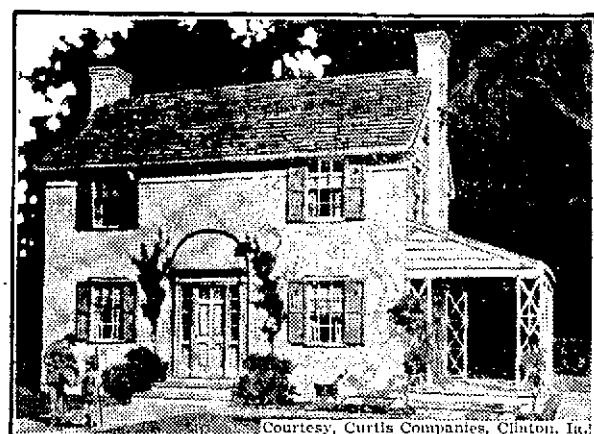

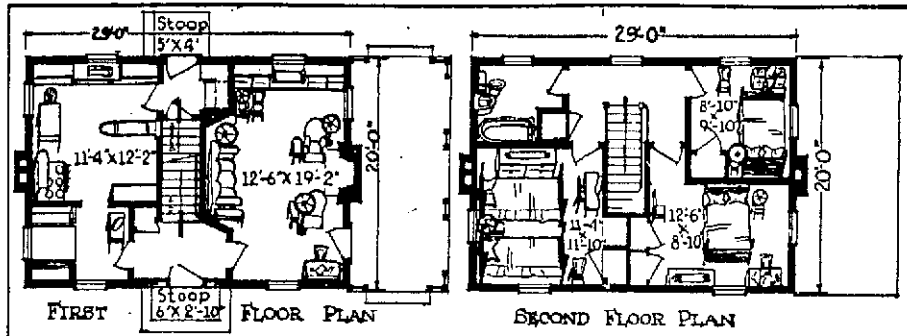

Mother's Viewpoint

"In other words, I've been a lone-some, sometimes very discouraged and overworked housewife, with apparently nothing ahead but more of the same. Now that I have a chance to participate in a broader and more exciting life, I want to share it with those who don't."

Mrs. Keyes has already done considerable fiction and is a public speaker of much ability. She knows politics thoroughly and undoubtedly could have a spectacular career in politics if she wanted to. But she prefers to write.

"One politician in a family is enough," she says. "Being the wife of a politician is a job by itself. You could scarcely combine the two."

Dining Room Omitted, Leaves Three Bedrooms in Five-Room Home

FIRST AND SECOND FLOOR PLANS AND FRONT VIEW OF HOME WITHOUT DINING ROOM

A Colonial house is not necessarily one of clapboards—a white house with green shutters and dormers. Shingles, brick or stucco are often used to good advantage, as is demonstrated by the charming stucco home shown here.

Nothing could be simpler than this severely rectangular house, with plain gabled roof, balanced chimneys and symmetrical openings. Yet, there is not the least suggestion of monotony or bareness. Trellises instead of heavy posts support the porch roof.

Note the use of sidings in the porch roof. The narrow, clean-cut cornice, small-paned windows and quaint shutters are all appropriate and decorative.

The simpler Colonial entrance, with its interesting little panes of glass at the top and its sidelights, is further accented by the arch in the stucco above.

The plan is of the central-hall type, although the hall has been reduced to just a vestibule with a coat closet and a boxed stair. There are several points of interest in the living room—the fireplace, the alcove opposite it, the room-end of bookcase with a window seat between them, the glazed door that leads to the living porch.

Since there are three bedrooms in this five-room house, it is evident that some other usual room is omitted. That is the little-used dining room, for which a delightful built-in dining alcove is substituted. It opens off the vestibule, and is separated from the kitchen by a closed opening.

Every possible convenience makes the kitchen almost ideal for the servantless family. Two dressers, worktable and ironing board are built-in. There is space under one window for the sink. The refrigerator is in the entry, as are the basement steps, so that the kitchen is spared much intrusion.

Each of the three bedrooms has windows on two sides. There are four closets, besides the linen case, a tray case and the bathroom medicine case. The upstairs hall and stair are well lighted.

In the average community a home like this should cost about $500, giving the construction at 30 cents a cubic foot.

RAILROADERS ENDORSE LA FOLLETTE TICKET

CINCINNATI, O., July 31.—(By the Associated Press)—Senators La Follette and Wheeler, independent candidates for the presidency and vice presidency, respectively, were endorsed today by the executive board of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees.

At the same time the board voiced its approval of the "progressive program" adopted by the conference for progressive political action convention at Cleveland on July 4 and 5 and recommended to its members earnest support of the program.

The names of Senators La Follette and Wheeler were not mentioned specifically, but in a supplemental statement attached to the resolution giving support to the program of the conference for progressive political action, the board which has been in secret session here for more than a week, endorsed the two independent candidates and senators and representatives in congress who are known to be progressives.

The action of the clerks is in line with that taken by several other railway brotherhoods. The adoption of the resolution endorsing the Cleveland progressive convention is merely formal, the sovereign body of the brotherhood at its convention in Dallas in May, 1922, having endorsed "the non-partisan political movement based on the furthering of our common interests, through political action."

COLORADO FACINGS

Colored facings are one way of introducing color on a track that must be dark to withstand much wear. Red and blue are both excellent choices. The white facing on black is not so practical, but is very lovely.

DINNER GOWN

The black lace or chiffon dinner gown is seen as the standby in the wardrobe of the woman who must watch her expenditures. Dyed lace, too, is very popular.

made directly into detention rooms at the rear of the building.

After today's conference, Architect Greco will put the plans into final suggestion offered and when approved by the county commissioners will be ready to advertise for construction shape, taking into consideration the bids.

In case you overlooked it in the news of the day, America also won the double sculling event in the Olympic water games, thanks to the sure, steady pull of Jack Kelly and Paul Castello, pictured above resting on their laurels, or oars, as it were, a few moments after the struggle.

distinct court rooms, an entire wing devoted exclusively to probationary work, many conference rooms, private suites for judges, a large area for the business of the clerk, a spacious lobby, adequate detention rooms, a fraternity room for attorneys and splendid lavatory and toilet facilities for both men and women.

The building construction will be of brick and stone. It will be two stories in height and will have a frontage in Hurd street of more than one hundred feet. In addition to the main public entrance in Hurd street, which will lead into a marble and tiled-floor lobby, 20 feet square and extending up to the roof, there are private entrances for judges and a private entrance on the east side for the use of the probation department. An entrance for prisoners is in the rear, leading to the basement, to be used for patrol delivery.

A driveway from Hurd street circles to the rear of the building where also there will be considerable automobile parking space.

The ground floor plan, where most of the business of the court will center, is of great interest. On that floor will be the main court room for the daily transaction of district court criminal business. It is 35 feet by 45 feet in size and is directly beyond the main lobby. To the right of the main entrance door is the clerk's department and to the left the probationary division. The working space for the clerk's office, a public space, a clerk's private office and record vault are compact and adjoining. The clerk's private office will be located at the immediate right of the entrance and will be the first door after reaching the lobby.

The judge's suite of offices is on the right of the lobby and adjacent to the criminal court room. There also is a judge's lobby, private consultation rooms and every comfort and convenience. The judge will not have to pass through any public area to reach the court room from the street. The private office of the court will include a fireplace in its appointments and in keeping with the rest of the building will be finished in oak.

In the probation wing are three private offices and a large public space. There will be a woman's retiring room and a special office for police women, leading into the court room on the east will be the attorneys' room.

The second floor will contain second and third sessions court rooms, either of which may be used for juvenile or civil sessions. There are three conference rooms on this floor and a combination library, hearing room and poor debtor's room.

Plans also have been made for a fourth court room in the basement, but unless necessity arises, it will not be furnished when the building first is constructed. Also in the basement will be a judge's office, a clerk's office, a newspaper published in Lowell, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this edition to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said court.

service and cites as an example their sending to this city unsolicited the night of the Associated building fire two pieces of apparatus worth $20,000 from Boston for the local department to use so long as necessary without charge.

It is expected the award of contracts for the apparatus will be made within very short time now that the purchasing agent has the chief's recommendation.

The chief's letter to the purchasing agent follows:

"Am in receipt of your letter of July 23, inviting an expression of my opinion and recommendations relative to the purchase of fire apparatus now under consideration by your office. Permit me to thank you for your courteous privilege and in accordance with your invitation to present for your consideration the following recommendations:

"It is my best judgment that a standardization of motor fire apparatus tends for greater efficiency in the operation of the fire department for two reasons: A decreased cost and upkeep and general repairs, and quick replacement of parts due to uniformity and a more capable handling of fire apparatus by members of the department due to familiarity with the standardized type of apparatus. In accordance with this viewpoint, I recommend the purchase and equipment of the fire department with White triple combination fire apparatus.

"Relative to the purchase of an aerial truck, I would say that in my opinion the air hoist, although more expensive, is preferable to the spring hoist in an aerial truck, especially in a city like Lowell where such a truck is not in use every day, because the air compressor is less liable to get out of order, through usage, than a spring and for that reason, justifies the additional expense of perhaps $2000.

"The aerial truck that I recommend could be constructed by using the White tractor and having the truck built according to required specifications. The White automobile company, the tractor alone would be of their make and would, as I have always maintained, add to our efficiency by not having motors of various types in the department. All our companies are familiar with the White and they have given perfect satisfaction. Their office in Boston is open at all hours of the day and night, and they are always ready and willing to send expert help, if we are in need of it, thus preventing apparatus from being out of commission for any length of time, even in the face of a serious break. Their willingness to serve in any emergency was ably demonstrated the night of the fire in the Associated building, when they sent, unsolicited, two pieces of apparatus and three men from Boston, representing $20,000 worth, for us to use as long as we wanted to without charge and telephoned to find out if there was anything else they could do for us.

"I trust the above information is in accord with your letter of inquiry."

Commonwealth of Massachusetts—Middlesex, ss. Probate Court.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin and all other persons interested in the estate of Charles E. Vorden, late of Lowell, in said County, deceased.

Whereas, a certain instrument purporting to be a last will and testament of said deceased, has been presented to said Court, for probate, by John J. Harvey, who prays that letters testamentary may be issued to him, the executor therein named.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge, in said County of Middlesex, on the eighth day of September, A.D. 1924, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate, seven days at least before said Court.

STOCK MARKET

Stock prices surged upwards today on a broad buying movement which carried many pivotal industrials, rail, department store, public utility and specialty stocks to new 1924 high records. Motor shares rallied sharply following a favorable earnings report by Studebaker. Sales approximately 1,100,000 shares.

Bullish demonstrations were staged in virtually all groups during the morning, revival of strength and activity in the motor being one of the features. Ralls followed in the wake of industrials with the special V. Van Sweringen stocks changing hands in large volume on reports of an early announcement of consolidation plans, "Nickel Plate" common rising 3 points to a record high of 15 1/2. General Electric moved up more than two points on rumors that interests identified with the Electric Bond and Share company, which it is supposed to control, had obtained a majority interest in the American Waterworks properties. Some of the strong spots included United States Fruit, Remington Typewriter, American Agricultural Chemical preferred, Pierce Arrow preferred, Mack Truck, Maxwell A. and American Tobacco, up 1 1/2 to 3 1/2 points. Commercial Solvents issues were heavy on reports that the company's Terre Haute plant had closed because of poor business. Cull money opened at two per cent.

The advance swung into a broad forward movement, with gains of 1 to 3 points setting many new high records for the year. Motor shares surged up under the leadership of Studebaker, which responded to a favorable second quarter earnings statement. U. S. Steel reached a new high on the current movement at 19 1/2 and Nickel Plate at 15 1/2 almost four points. The closing was strong, New York records continued to be marked up in the late afternoon. General Electric climbing four points to 26 1/2. "Pere Marquette" 4 1/2, and "Associate" 5 1/2. D. W. Goods 5 1/2 points to 10 1/2. Gains of one to five points were recorded by various specialties including Studebaker, Corn Products and National Lead.

CHARGE "FEDS" FOOLING WITH BOAT ENGINE

BOSTON, July 31.—A charge that officials of the department of justice and of the navy were conspiring to alter the motor boat Katherine B., recently seized with alcohol aboard, was made today by counsel for Captain Arthur L. Backman of Lunenburg, N. S., in presenting to Federal Judge Lowell a petition for an injunction to restrain them from alleged further tampering with the boat's engine. It is the contention of counsel that changes are being made to increase the indicated speed of the engine. Judge Lowell refused to accept the petition, which names port officials and employees of motor companies, also observing, "You ask me to believe the United States attorneys are faking evidence." Counsel asserted that they could prove it and the judge said he would consider the matter further at the hearing tomorrow on question of forfeiture of the schooner.

WALL STREET ITEMS

Profit-taking tendencies later brought some irregularity to the market, forcing slight reactions in American Can, General Electric and several other of the rail shares. These failed to check the general advance, however, most issues offering firm resistance to selling pressure. Gains of a point or more were registered by Colorado Fuel, West Pennsylvania Power, Allied Chemical, E. R. Kinney, United Railways Investment, Savage Arms and Atlantic Coast Line, the latter two reaching new 1924 high prices. "Nickel Plate" mounted to a new peak price following reports of progress in the proposed acquisition of Erie Railroad. Foreign exchanges opened steady.

The upward movement of stock prices proceeded with renewed vigor at the opening of today's market. American Can forged ahead into new high ground for the year at 126 and E. R. Kinney, United Railways Investment, reached a new peak price at 19 1/2. U. S. Steel, Baldwin and other pivotal industrials were higher and some of the oils advanced in the face of another increase in crude oil production.

Bankers and officials of several large corporations are understood to be planning conferences to float refunding issues because the bond market has reached such a high level, companies seeking bonds outstanding with high interest rates being affected. Ample opportunity to sell bonds with lower coupon rates is afforded by the present market and would result in heavy reduction in overhead interest charges.

The American Sugar company has sold its entire holding of Great Western Sugar company common stock which was shown in the last annual report to have been 105,984 shares valued at about $9,300,000.

The half-yearly report of E. I. du Pont de Nemours shows net income of $7,610,089 compared with $10,125,832 in the first six months of 1923. This is equal after debenture stock dividends to $5.84 a share on the common stock, against $5.84 a share a year ago. Profit and loss surplus was $38,414. Net sales of $47,761,249 were about $1,500,000 less than in the corresponding period of 1923.

Dividend and interest payments in July aggregated $386,850,000 compared with $366,025,000 a year ago, according to a compilation by the Journal of Commerce. Disbursements to stockholders,

LEOPOLD-LOEB PROSECUTOR FIGHTS TO BAR ALIENISTS FROM STAND

Musty Tomes Consulted to Find Legal Precedents With Which to Cite Judge Caverly—Insanity Plea in Mitigation Not Defense is Claim

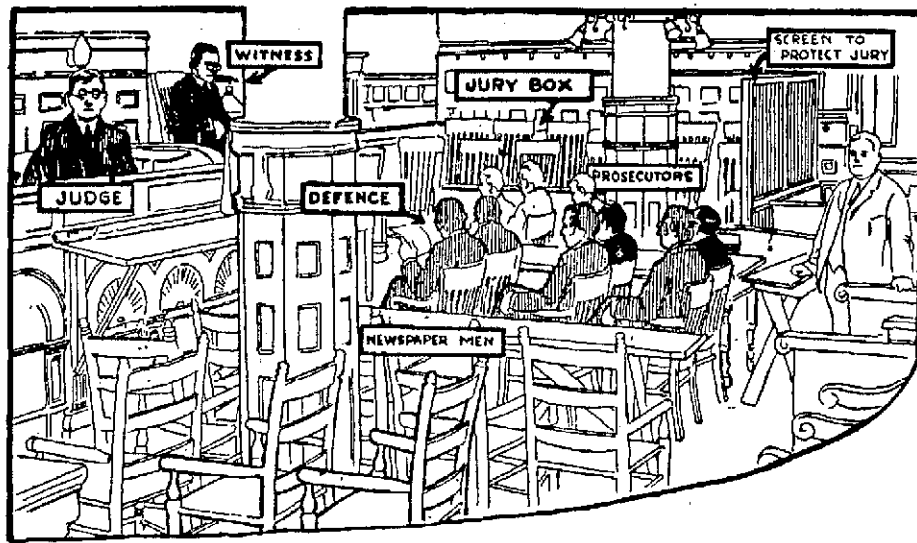

CHICAGO, July 31.—(By the Associated Press) Another day of argument was in prospect today in the judicial hearing to determine the punishment of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, for the kidnapping and killing of Robert Franks, with the state determined to prevent defense alienists testifying to the youths' mentality as "mitigating circumstances."

Decisions from court records of a half dozen states and Great Britain have been cited by the state to support its contention that any question touching the defendants' mental condition should be submitted to a jury for a finding as to their sanity.

Although Judge John R. Caverly, who must fix the penalty, has flatly overruled a prosecution objection to any evidence bearing on mental conditions and has declared he would admit any evidence touching on insanity, the state plans to continue its arguments, which the court will not limit.

The defense has reiterated its determination not to plead insanity as a legal defense, but holds the position

Artist's Sketch of Chicago Court

This artist's sketch was made from a photograph of Chief Justice John R. Caverly's courtroom in Chicago in which the fate of Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold will be determined. The diagram shows the seating arrangements during the hearing. The hearing is being conducted like an ordinary trial with the exception that there is no jury. A jury will not be called because the defendants have thrown themselves upon the mercy of the court in whose hands alone their fate rests.

Opposing Counsel at Chicago

PROSECUTOR CROWE DEFENSE ATTORNEY DARROW

AGAINST SENATE BROADCASTING

By N.E.A. Service.
WASHINGTON, July 31.—Reasons for opposition to proposed broadcasting of senate proceedings were brought out here by Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr. of New York.

"I do not believe that broadcasting the proceedings of the senate will contribute anything toward a better understanding of what is going on," he says, "I am convinced it would be a serious loss of freedom of debate and, at the same time, greatly extend it."

"Spontaneity of debate would be ruined. Consideration would be paid only to the political effects of what one had to say on a given subject. There is too much 'speaking for the record' now. This human proensity to advance political fortunes would consume an even larger part of the time if radio were installed.

"The proceedings of congress are available to anyone in the Congressional Record. By means of many news services and correspondents, all the essential facts as to the labors of congress are accurately reported to the public."

TWENTY ORCHESTRAS
Station WTAS, Elgin, Ill., has arranged for a variety broadcasting program of more than 20 orchestras weekly. Wire lines will connect the station with hallrooms in Chicago.

CLEAN JOINT NEEDED
A good soldering job requires a clean joint. After this the joint must be heated to make the solder effective. A slight touch of rosin as flux is all that is necessary for the operation.

Campaign

NEW YORK, July 31.—Having practically opened his campaign on the return trip from Maine ten days in advance of the formal notification of his nomination as democratic presidential candidate, John W. Davis, arrived in

BURGLAR BEATS WOMAN ALARM CLOCK WAKENS

NEW YORK, July 31.—Mrs. Jennie Rohder, 45, was beaten with a blackjack in her Eighth avenue apartment today by a burglar whose plans to rob the apartment were frustrated by the ringing of an alarm clock. After the intruder had beaten, gagged and bound Mrs. Rohder to her bed with sheets, he escaped through a window. Mrs. Rohder was taken to a hospital suffering from contusions and shock.

New York early today and began to acquaint himself with the various details of the campaign plans as they have been worked out while he was on vacation in the Penobscot bay islands. Reaching his personal headquarters after an all-night journey from Rockland, Me., Mr. Davis went into conference with his field marshal, Clem M. Shaver. Questions of organization were discussed chiefly but several developments in the world of politics since Mr. Davis left for Maine, were taken up.

Virtually isolated on Seven Hundred Acre Island as he was for nearly two weeks, the nominee was without full information on a number of subjects, among them the refusal of his running mate, Gov. C. W. Bryan to co-operate with the Coolidge administration in carrying out national defense day in September.

Greeted by several friends as he stepped from his private car, Mr. Davis told them in response to inquiries, that he felt "one hundred per cent fit."

Before starting for home, Mr. Davis completed all of his acceptance address with the exception of one paragraph, the nature of which he has not disclosed. With this exception the text is now in the hands of the printer and the candidate will devote part of his time during the remainder of this week in revising the proofs and in completing the final section, which he desires to talk over with Mr. Shaver and other campaign leaders before reducing his thoughts to writing.

ABOARD THE BAR HARBOR EXPRESS EN ROUTE FOR NEW YORK, July 31.—Getting back to his personal headquarters in New York today, John W. Davis, democratic party standard bearer, will devote himself almost exclusively during the next ten days to the perfection of campaign organization and plans. He will then go to Clarksville, W. Va., to formally begin his fight with the delivery of his acceptance speech which he has prepared in the quiet of Penobscot bay, Maine.

His first conference today will be with his campaign manager, Clem M. Shaver, who will report on the progress made in perfecting the campaign machinery. The candidate then will confer with Daniel C. Roper of North Carolina, former commissioner of internal revenue, and later will meet Walker D. Hines of New York, director-general of railroads in the Wilson administration.

While passing through Maine last night, Mr. Davis delivered two addresses but with only passing reference to politics. He told an audience at Rockland that both democrats and republicans were seeking an honest, upright and just government and that the only difference was that they approached the same goal by different methods.

At Bath he declared that when the campaign had ended and the choice of the people had fallen on "some of the candidates shoulder to shoulder as Americans, we shall join and march forward again for the welfare of our great common country."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Why a thoroughly entertaining and true-to-life novel makes good picture material can be easily understood by spectators who see "The Fool's Awakening," the Metro premier which opened a three days' engagement at the Merrimack Square theatre this afternoon. It is based on William J. Locke's story, "The Tale of Triona." Harrison Ford, Enid Bennett and Mary Alden have the leading roles and are ably assisted by a competent cast.

The second feature of the current program is "Phantom Justice," a picture which has created widespread discussion, not alone for the remarkable information it contains, but also because of the great entertainment value of the story.

An Our Gang comedy, "The Big

Show," and the latest International News complete the bill.

RIALTO THEATRE
A human triangle without a villain, where the two men are pals and the girl is a trusted friend to each, and where the outcome is "different." This is the extraordinary situation in "Stormy Seas," which opens at Loew's Rialto today, and in which J. P. McGowan and Helen Holmes are the stars. The story of "Stormy Seas" is one of the thrilling heart interest throughout. Suspense and romance mingle with thrills, and not the least of the developments which commend the picture as one exceedingly worth while is the fact that it has a surprise ending. The hero and heroine do not involuntarily in the customary movie "clinch" after the rescue. Earlier in the story the man has shown himself unworthy of the girl, and even in heroically saving her life he does not win her back to himself. A new sort of a human triangle to be sure, yet one that can very well be true to life and is all the more welcome because it is new.

TRAIN HITS OPEN SWITCH; ONE KILLED

NEW YORK, July 31.—A prematurely opened hand switch which caused the derailment of three rear passenger coaches on a Long Island railroad express train bound for Port Washington in the Sunnyside yards at Woodside, L. I., yesterday afternoon, resulted in the death of one woman and in the injury of 27 other passengers. The majority of those hurt were in the third car from the end, which sideswiping an electric engine on an adjacent track, was hurled on its side.

MANY HURT IN TENEMENT FIRE

NEW YORK, July 31.—Eight persons were injured, one seriously, in a fire which broke out early today in a five-story tenement in Third avenue. One of the injured was a child thrown from a second floor window by its mother. A second child, thrown from the same window, was caught in the arms of a pedestrian. Several rescues from the upper floors were made by the police and firemen.

THE DEATH RAY

It was natural to suppose that when aircraft became available for purposes of warfare, something in the line of an antidote should be found to prevent them from causing wholesale destruction of populous cities or of large armies by the dropping of bombs and the distribution of poisonous chemicals. So it comes to pass that a British inventor, H. Grindell Matthews, has produced an electric means of destroying aircraft. It is commonly designated as the "Death Ray," but the inventor objects to this name as conveying a wrong idea of his invention. He says it is the most humane element yet to be introduced in warfare, as, according to his statement, it renders the men whom it strikes unconscious for an hour or two, after which they recover and experience no injurious results. It will not hurt a battleship because of the grounding of the current; but it will destroy an airplane in the air and leave it a mass of ruins. If it accomplishes this, as the inventor claims, then the world will have no longer to dread the danger of ruin and destruction in case of a war in which airplanes should have free play, provided this invention comes into general use. At present it is controlled by England, and the inventor could not even demonstrate it here. Britain may cultivate it as a protection against the growing air power of France, but such an invention cannot long be confined to any one country. It is also alleged that it will cure cancer, and if so, this is a great point in favor of its universal application.

HEARST AND HYLAN

Hearst and Hylan are plotting to have the latter run for governor; but while he may do so, it is not expected that he will get the nomination. No tool of Hearst should be elected to any office. The present move to run Hylan is directed against Governor Smith who had been imported to run; but he says he prefers to go on a stumping tour for John W. Davis, the democratic nominee. He intends to be a candidate for president four years hence, and if he now confined his attention to an affair of his own, he would lose prestige with the country and instead he wants to win popular favor and get acquainted with the people, especially in the middle west.

No man can do more in the campaign for democratic victory than can Governor Smith. Tammany will not take kindly to Hearst or his candidate so that it is likely that a candidate will be chosen to run against Hylan for the nomination who will beat him. Hylan's record as mayor of New York city is not such as to recommend him for a higher office.

WANT FINES ABOLISHED

A time-worn problem involving textile mill workers and the size of their weekly pay envelopes, comes up again in New Bedford, where the weavers' protective association is once more seeking the entire abolition of the old penalizing system by which weavers have been fined for defective work. It is declared that, although most of the cloth mills in New Bedford have done away with the old method of fining weavers, a few concerns continue to make deductions from pay envelopes for poorly woven cloth.

Some years ago this subject was the cause of many labor difficulties. During the progress of the controversy, and at a time when the workers were strongly organized against the "fining" system, about one-half of the textile mills dropped the system. There are still to be found, nevertheless, some mills that faithfully cherish and maintain the fining system.

The weavers have good excuses when defects in cloth are laid at their doors. In the transition of cotton from the raw state to the cloth in gray goods in a mill such as those found in New Bedford, at least nine crafts are employed. Eight of these are not subject to fines, or else have had the fining system abolished. The ninth may be the one fined in rare cases. Since the mistakes and imperfections occurring in the mechanical process of eight other crafts are brought to a focus in the loom, the fining of weavers appears to be rather out of place since about 80 per cent. of the defects in cloth are due to causes usually beyond the control of the weaver. The management of the mills, of course, claim that by maintaining the fine system, better cloth is produced.

THE DEADLOCK

In reference to the deadlock at Paris relative to the means of offering substantial security for the loan to Germany, it would seem that it should not be necessary to sidetrack the just claims of France on the matter of reparations. The Dawes plan apparently would suspend the right of France to push her claims against Germany, if by so doing she should interfere with the arrangements for payment of the proposed loan. It does seem unreasonable that a minor transaction should take precedence over and block one vastly greater; but apparently the Paris conference believes that this is the only way they can get anything from Germany. But France has a different opinion, based upon military action as a last resort. Now, however, it appears that a compromise may be reached on the suggestion of Col. Logan of the United States as to a mode of breaking the deadlock which has blocked all the progress toward the adoption of the Dawes plan of settling the reparations issue between Germany and the allies. France, too, is now showing an inclination to compromise for the general good.

JAY-WALKERS

The reckless auto driver gets all the blame usually, but there are just as many reckless pedestrians as drivers, even more. In New York City, for instance, during 1923, a total of 130 people were killed by autos while jay-walking between street intersections, only 82 killed in car collisions.

Common sense crossings that both driver and pedestrian are not careful enough. Things are improving, however. There are more accidents than formerly, but fewer for each 1000 cars—just more cars in use now.

QUIET PERSIA

It appears that the Iranian Persians who killed the American vice-consul in Teheran were not at all abashed at their cowardly act but went so far as to make an attack upon the widow when she appeared upon the streets some days after the murder of her husband. It would seem

SEEN AND HEARD

All of us know what we would do this vacation if we could afford it.

They say snakes will not bite in water, and a disgraced fisherman tells fish won't either.

A Thought

Lying is the strongest acknowledgment of the force of truth.—Hart.

Very Generous Man

Loungers at the club had a certain man under discussion. Some said he was generous. Some said otherwise. Finally a lawyer walked in who knew the man well. To the newcomer they appealed to say whether the individual in question was generous or not. "Judge for yourself," responded the lawyer. "When I knew him he was a dollar-a-year man with the government and was giving his entire salary to his wife for pin money."

Astronomer Stumped

A distinguished astronomer tells of a visit paid by several young women to his observatory. "I had done my best," he said, "to answer with credit the running fire of questions which my fair callers propounded. I think I had named even the remotest constellations for them and was congratulating myself upon the outcome, when one of the younger members of the party interjected: 'But, as it has never been proved that planets are inhabited, how do the astronomers find out their names?'"

Tough Old World

He fled down the street after the tramcar, and perspiration rolled down his cheeks. "I'll catch it," he said to himself. "If I die for it." Faster went the tram. He knocked children over in his wild career, but he never wavered. He drew nearer to the car. At last he touched the rail, and with a despairing effort drew himself aboard. He sank in a seat, panting for breath. The conductor touched him on the shoulder, and said: "You'll have to get off; we're only going to the tramshed."

Big Leaguers

Bagges and Jaggs met, and Bagges and Jaggs got talking. "I once knew a man, dear boy," began Bagges, who was so ticklish on the soles of his feet that whenever he took a bath he had to walk about afterward on a blotter. It was the only method of foot drying that wouldn't throw him into fits. "That's nothing," retorted Jaggs. "I used to board at a place where the landlady was so nervous that whenever the wind blew she had to go out and graze the corners of the house, so that the wind wouldn't creak when it went around them."

Prevent

A negro had heard his parson tell the story of Daniel in the lions' den. He doubted the story very much, however, so he decided to see the parson about it.

"Parson," he questioned, "am I true den Daniel was thrown in de lions' den and dey didn't eat him up?"

"Yes, suh, brudder Smiff," answered the parson, "dat am de fact."

"Den dey must have been circus lions."

Diamond Men

For nearly half a century private secretary to successive lord mayors of London, Sir William Roebuck, tells a good story about a famous art connoisseur who, at a big art function, found himself sitting next a somewhat illiterate country alderman. In the course of conversation the alderman mentioned that his grandfather had known the great Napoleon. "Indeed!" said the other. "That's very interesting." "Yes," the alderman went on, "And I still have the fine sword which Napoleon gave him. It has a hen in diamonds on the hilt." "A hen?" exclaimed the other art connoisseur. "You probably mean an eagle—the imperial eagle?" "No," insisted the alderman. "It's a hen plain enough. I've got it with me. Look!"—and he pulled from his pocket a splendid gold locket with an "N" in brilliant on the lid.

True Love's Time of Day

When shall I find you, sweetheart, that shall and must be mine? I seek, though the world divides us, And I send you the secret sign.

There's blood in the veins of morn— So fresh it may well deceive, When man goes forth as Adam, And woman awaits him as Eve.

There's an ethereal spell in twilight, When the bats of fancy fly, And sense is bound by a question, And Fate by the quick reply.

And the moon is an old enchantress, With her smiles of glimmer and shade, That have ever been false and fatal To the dreams of man and maid.

But I'll meet you at noonday sweet-heart, In the billowy fields of grain, When the sun is hot for harvest, And the reaper thrives for rain.

With the daylight's truth on your forehead, And the daylight's love in your eye, I'll kiss you without a question, And you'll kiss me without reply.

—JAMES HAYWARD TAYLOR.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

How many autolists of your acquaintance repair their own tires? I'll wager that you can't name many. A friend of mine tells me that he was held up recently by a puncture on the Lowell-Lawrence boulevard. The first thing he did was to jack up the car and remove the tire, but when he attempted to dismount the "spare" it was with dismay that he discovered the loss of his keys. The only thing to do was to repair the tube itself. Troubles never come singly, and my friend found that his rubber cement had hardened. He was in a quandary. As he was far from a service station he held up a passing car and attempted to borrow some of the necessary cement. The driver did not carry it. Eight cars he halted with the same result until one man showed him how to "spring" the padlock on the "spare." Vulcanizers must be coming money.

The national guardmen enlisted in B battery, 102nd Field Artillery, M.N.C., are now busily performing annual duty tours in Camp Dix. They are proud of their natty stock-up kitchens and cooks, and also the substantial food served to one and all. There were numerous complaints about the meals served to both officers and members of Companies C and D of the 182nd Infantry, at the first encampment of the season, and many Lowell boys declared that they had to purchase food in restaurants outside of the campground in order to satisfy their hunger. The fault was not with the cooks and supply officers of Companies C and D regimental but quartermaster's department—the "higher-ups." If the Lowell Infantrymen's kitchen hearties had had the food, the boys would have gotten it.

There has been considerable criticism concerning the high rate of speed at which fire apparatus is driven through the city streets. Having heard the critics, I questioned a group of fire department chauffeurs to learn their side of the question. Numbered in the group was one of the chief's chauffeurs who said: "There lived in this city a few years ago a man who took special delight in terming fire chauffeurs speed maniacs. For two years he raved and ranted about us and our method of driving. Then one night, a few minutes before midnight, his house caught fire. He lived in the outskirts of the city and we made a record run responding to the fire and managed to save the main section of the house, but an ell was destroyed. The next day that man told his friends and acquaintances that there was a lapse of nearly half-an-hour after the alarm was sounded before the apparatus arrived—and the truck I was on made the run in less than five minutes."

Tyler A. Stevens, back from England, tells a most interesting story of a protesting meeting in London of leasing automobiles for nearly amounts rather than an out and out purchase. The Daimler people, I think it is, who put out only a high priced car, quite generally leases them to business and professional men at a rate of $3000 per year, payable in monthly installments. The man who assumes such a lease, assumes no responsibility and has no expense whatever to worry about. The Daimler people supply the car, the chauffeur, the gasoline, the oil and the service. The car is at the disposal of the lessee at any time, day or night, and the year round he has the same operator. At the end of the year, if the contract is renewed, a brand new car is furnished for another 12 months. Since hearing this from Mr. Stevens, I have been told that the Packard Co. does the same thing in this country, although not on a large scale.

Tomorrow afternoon at Alumni field, The Sun baseball team will play its French contemporary, L'Etoile. Fully recuperated from the defeat administered our second team at the hands of the D. L. Page nine last Tuesday, our regulars will go after their opponents with a vengeance. Our true strength, however, will not be divulged until the long-anticipated struggle with the Citi-Leader team takes place.

Male operators at future sessions of the local district court will do well to enter the court room attired in their coats, as Judge Knight is bent upon upholding the dignity of his court. Within the past few days, several persons have been ordered to withdraw from the court room because of the lack of proper attire. Hereafter, the officer at the door will see to it that careless individuals are prevented from seeking admittance.

It is surprising that many boys are not injured in the new very common practice of jumping motor trucks between Lowell and Boston and from here to Silver Lake. The boys found unconscious on Rogers street last week attempted to board a passing truck and were nearly killed. Every day a group of boys and young men can be seen near the Moody school awaiting trucks on which to beat their way to Silver Lake or more distant points.

The old-time condemned mill tenement houses on the canal-side of Suffolk street are slowly disappearing from the landscape. The work of demolition of the line of weather-beaten, half-ruined structures that have for so many years sheltered human lives—the workers of the looms, the spindles and many other production machines of the Lowell cotton industry—goes steadily onward as the Locks and Canals property continues to tear down and remove the relics of ancient Lowell. The destruction of the dilapidated wooden structures began earlier in the summer, and started with the removal, first, of Abramowitz & Kramer's blacksmith shop of the "relief" class. The shop was numbered 197. Since that first "slash" of the disabled buildings, fourteen more have been removed from Suffolk street locations number as follows: 157, 165, 181, 182, 179, 171, 163, 161, 153, 151.

PARCELS POST EXPORT BUSINESS GROWS

WASHINGTON, July 31.—The parcel post system has come to the aid of the exporter to the extent of carrying two million dollars of export business a month. The bureau of foreign and domestic commerce of the commerce department made public figures today, showing that exports by parcel post have more than doubled since January and that for the first five months of the year $5,304,452 worth of goods was thus exported.

Broker, Alone With Hair-Dresser, Dead From Bullet Wound in Temple

Young Woman Tells Police He Was Showing Her It Wasn't Loaded

NEW YORK, July 31.—Harry Mack, stock broker, was killed in his room in the theatrical rooming district early today following a party which had lasted until after midnight. A young woman, who was alone with him when he was shot, and who said she was Peggy Cook, a hair dresser of Philadelphia, was questioned by the police.

Miss Cook, who gave her age as 19, declared the shooting was accidental. She had remained after the other guests left, she said, and when she noticed a revolver in the room asked Mack to put it away because it frightened her. He took the weapon, she said, and opened the chamber, allowing several cartridges to fall to the floor. Then he placed the revolver against his temple, she said, and, after pulling the trigger, remarked: "See, it isn't loaded."

Then he pulled the trigger again and there was a loud report, she asserted. Mack was dead when an ambulance surgeon arrived.

FEW IRISH JUDGES KNOW THEIR GAELIC

DUBLIN, July 31. (By the Associated Press.)—An attempt to compel railway companies in the Free State to print their announcements and tickets in the Irish language only, or in both Irish and English, was vigorously opposed by Senator W. R. Yeats, the poet, who in the course of his address revealed that he had tried to learn Irish and failed, as he had always failed to learn any other language than English.

A strong feeling has manifested itself in favor of making the country bilingual. Irish is compulsory in the schools, and in the law courts it ranks equally with English. It is but rarely employed, however, and when it is, causes some embarrassment to judges and counsel, most of whom are ignorant of it. Occasionally an attorney puts in an affidavit in Irish only, and the court permits an adjournment until counsel have succeeded in obtaining a translation.

OLD AGE PENSIONS MEET OPPOSITION

BERNE, Switzerland, July 31. (By the Associated Press.)—A pension of $50 a year to all citizens of 65 years of age is provided for by the measure now before the Swiss parliament. Half of the cost is to be covered by the state, and to this end it is proved to increase the tax on alcoholic liquors. The other half of the cost is to be provided by the insured and by those employing them.

The measure is meeting with general favor, except from the socialists, who had $50 a year insufficient. They also urge that the pension be paid also to invalids of any age.

STANZAS FOR MUSIC

There be none of Beauty's daughters
With a magic like thee,
And like music on the waters
Is thy sweet voice to me;
When, as if its sound were causing
The charmed ocean's pausing,
The waves be still and gleaming
And the lull'd winds seem dreaming.

And the midnight moon is weaving
Her bright chain o'er the deep,
Whose breast is gently heaving,
As an infant's asleep;
So the spirit bows before thee
To listen and adore thee,
With a full but soft emotion,
Like the swell of Summer's ocean.

—Lord Byron.

PEN SECRETS

Just a plain old black pen that's been chewed on the end, and it lives on a postoffice table. It's dipped in the ink as the writin' folks think. Oh, what it could tell, it 'twere able.

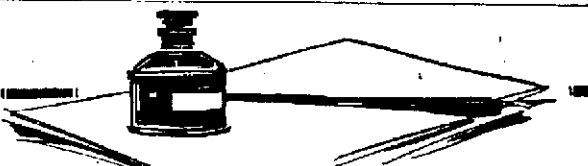

A maiden approaches and scribbles a bit. She smiles as a letter is written. The pen knows her secrets; there's no doubt of it. It knows that with love she is smitten.

A boy in his teens, with no dough in his jeans, the long line of writers will join. The pen knows the lad is just writin' to dad to suggest that he send him some coin.

A mother walks in, mid the postoffice din; just a little old lady in black. She writes to a child who, perhaps, has run wild, and she pleads that the youngster come back.

The trusty old pen serves its duty right well. It works for whomever may call. It knows lots of secrets but never will tell. They're merely pen-secrets—that's all!

FEAR FOUL PLAY IN DENVER CASE

Woman Found Near Death
From Escaping Gas in Apartment is Unconscious

Police Seek Divorced Husband of Mrs. Cooper, Seen in City Recently

DENVER, Colo., July 31.—Police have been unable to solve the mystery of circumstances surrounding the finding of Mrs. Gertrude O'Reilly Ramsay Cooper of Denver, and Kansas City, lying near death on an improvised bed in the kitchenette of her fashionable apartment here Tuesday morning, gas pouring from a stove nearby. She is in a hospital unconscious and unable to aid the officers.

Mrs. Cooper's identity was not established until yesterday, when her mother, Mrs. Margaret O'Reilly Casey and her stepfather, Patrick Casey, visited her. Mrs. Casey told police she knew of no reason why her daughter should attempt to take her own life, and Mr. Casey declared he believed Mrs. Cooper was a victim of foul play.

Police were trying to verify a report that J. H. Cooper of Kansas City, from whom Mrs. Cooper is said to have been divorced in Wichita, Kas., four years ago, arrived in Denver, Tuesday night and that Mr. Cooper had communicated with his former wife by telephone before starting for home.

Mr. Cooper thus far has not been located. Mrs. Cooper came to Denver from Kansas City recently. She is said to have a sister, Miss Clara O'Reilly, in New York city.

ALICE TERRY LEAVES INGRAM TEMPORARILY

BY A. H. FREDERICK
N.E.A. Service Writer

HOLLYWOOD, July 31.—Strange inconsistency of the movies is this: One may be a star for years and yet not star. So it has been with Alice Terry, one of screenland's prettiest and well known cinema followers as the heroine of the "Four Horsemen," "Scarabouche," "The Prisoner of Zenda" and other of Shadowland's most startling productions.

The case of Miss Terry is symbolic of the two schools of theory dividing Hollywood—that which claims the star as the chief magnet that lures the half dollars and that which contends "the play is the thing."

Whoso can answer the riddle will render inestimable service to the motion picture magnates, sorely puzzled through it in the region of their pocketbooks and maximum returns thereto.

Proponent of one school is Schenck. Ample close-ups, multitudinous personality scenes are allotted a "fair-weather" in all his pictures—story be what it may.

Subordinate actors. Perhaps foremost advocate of the other theory is Rex Ingram, under whose directing Miss Terry has been for some four years, or since the industrially revolutionary "Four Horsemen." This theory subordinates actors to story.

Among his many claims to fame Ingram lists this, that he is the husband of the pulchritudinous Miss Terry. But when directing he recognizes neither relatives, friends nor celebrated strangers as entitled to one jot or tittle more of film footage than is called for by the script and the action.

Consequently, while Miss Terry has had the leading feminine parts in the great productions which Ingram has given us, big dramatic scenes have been allotted largely to others—for so it chanced.

Now, for the first time since he took charge of her film career, Ingram has consented to his wife's appearance under the directorship of another, Reginald Barker, at present engaged in filming "The Great Divide" for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Had Never Met
In this picture Miss Terry has been cast as Ruth Jordan, feminine lead made famous by Margaret Anglin in the stage play. Opposite her in the cast will be Conway Tearle—a com-

SEATTLE PLANS GREAT WELCOME TO FLIERS

SEATTLE, Wash., July 31.—When Lieut. Lowell H. Smith and his companions officially end their 27,000-mile globe-circling trip here, sometime between August 18 and 19, they will receive the greatest welcome ever staged in the Pacific northwest, said Major A. A. Oles, assistant secretary of the Seattle chamber of commerce, announcing plans for the event.

Each aviator will receive an engraved gold watch as a gift from the American Legion posts of Seattle, it was stated. Arrangements are being made to combine the celebration with navy week.

blination of stars hitherto unaffected. In fact, personal introduction of the two was necessary shortly before the camera started registering the first scenes of the picture.

"The plot, portraying as it does, a development in character, will give my biggest dramatic opportunity," comments Miss Terry. "Not that I was or am dissatisfied with my former roles, but this, being distinctly different from them, naturally catches my fancy as new things will."

"Much of the dramatic action in 'The Great Divide' takes place between two of the characters—Mr. Tearle and myself. This, technically known as a two-person story, also is new to me."

Thus explained to them, Terry fans, who formerly complained of the meagerness of their favorite's film footage, may await completion of this picture with no less expectancy than Miss Terry herself.

Jail Can't Silence Magee

CARL C. MAGEE

By N.E.A. Service.
LAS VEGAS, N. M., July 31.—Carl C. Magee is staking his freedom and his future on a fight.

He has been sent to jail and to the verge of bankruptcy, but he fights on to:

Overthrow the political gang that rules San Miguel county.

Establish the freedom of the press in New Mexico.

He has earned the title of the "fighting editor in America." He was given this title when he defied the powers of Judge David J. Leahy, boss of the "Kingdom of San Miguel."

Ever since Magee started publishing his paper in Albuquerque he attacked the Judge as corrupt. Once before he was sentenced to 18 months at hard labor and to pay a fine of $4000. He was pardoned by Governor Hinkle before he went to prison.

This did not deter him. He had declared his war and he fought on.

He was summoned again. Under this threat, he wrote:

"Leahy's 'court' isn't a court. It is a slaughter-house for the blind god-exposed a deal in which banks profited at the flier's loss.

He was forced to sell his paper. He bought another paper, and backed by the Scripps-Howard organization, continued the battle.

Magee, a rangy man with steel-gray eyes, is little worried about his own fate.

When he walked into court to face Judge Leahy the last time, he was asked if he had any reason to offer why sentence should not be pronounced. He remarked in matter-of-fact tones, without any hint of being dramatic:

"I deny that I am being accorded

due process of law."

The judge stuttered, so surprised necessary, save the straps that break was he at this challenge to himself. He asked Magee to repeat.

Then he found him glibly on another count of contempt.

BORDERED SILK

Here is an excellent example of how effectively bordered silk may be used. The printed design in black on the age run.

white gown affords all the trimming necessary, save the straps that break. The plainness of the front. In buying a bordered material it is well to select one such as this with a design that may be cut for bandings and trimmings if necessary, as it allows greater latitude in the choice of a style. The sleeves are most attractive and are decidedly different from the average run.

Home Circulation is Best

Advertisers who use The Sun consistently get greater returns on the money invested than through any other Lowell newspaper. There's a reason. The Sun goes into more homes in Lowell and suburbs than any other Lowell paper and ninety per cent of Sun readers read no other Lowell newspaper. Furthermore, ninety five per cent of The Sun circulation is confined to the city of Lowell and immediate vicinity.

LOWELL WILL OBSERVE
NEW ENGLAND WEEK

"New England Week" will be fittingly observed in Lowell. That "first problem" has been settled. There is every prospect of a city-wide observance, according to well-known business men affiliated with several local business organizations carrying membership cards in various wholesale and retail trade associations in and outside of Lowell. Many citizens favor making it an "Old Home Week" and calling it just that.

Lowell chamber of commerce executives have not yet formulated any presentable program for a formal observance in celebration of the proposed trade hoisting week from Sept. 15 to 20, inclusive, when New England merchants in large numbers will advertise their goods lavishly in order to interest new customers in "trading at home."

The local retail merchants' committee, at its first meeting last Monday, considered several attractive plans that might serve to boost Lowell-made merchandise, supporting wholeheartedly the New England-wide campaign as well.

There is a general disposition among native business men, to devote all possible energies to advertising local industries of every kind, providing at the same time a substantial display of Lowell-made goods in marks of trading and in some large hall for exhibition purposes.

Local chamber members have just received a report from the business men's committee representing Greater Boston, a band of hustlers, now hard at work on an "All New England" week organization. They are to campaign in groups—60 in all—each comprised of representative men engaged in representative industries. They promise to put all the strength of the city's business activities "back of the movement to boost New England"—and, of course, Boston first and last.

It was the thought of the committee now functioning in Boston, to make Sept. 15 to 20 a sort of reincarnated "Old Home Week" for New England industries—an opportunity to "get acquainted all over again." The effect of this would undoubtedly be to develop a demand at home, as well as abroad, for New England products.

Maid and matron alike, from the breezy debutante to the stately dowager of the diplomatic set, flaunt their short locks as an index of a newly achieved independence.

They may have cut them first because it was "the style." But the bob's real popularity is due to its comfort, not to any mere matter of following the fashion.

In this battle for the survival of the "Bobs," the following suggestion may not be inappropriate:

Why not organize the bobs for Bob? Since the old party war horses have been shot by a squad of Greek military men in Greulian Macedonia, according to the Bulgarian Telegraphic agency, which cites a despatch from the under-prefect of Plovdiv.

This official said four peasants told him they were among 25 who were seized and bound by the Greeks upon orders from Greek officers at the frontier near the village of Tircho, and shot down, only seven escaping.

Another group of 15 Bulgars were seized and taken to the same spot, the peasants said, but their fate was unknown.

The Bulgarian government is said to have made a vigorous protest to the Greek government and asked that the international Greco-Bulgarian emigration commission make an immediate investigation.

COULD NOT WALK BECAUSE OF PAIN

Bad Case of Woman's Illness Remedied by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Louis, Mo.—"I had such a bad case of female trouble that I could not walk because of the pains from inflammation. My back was all done up. I could hardly bend, could not go up stairs because of weakness, and no one could possibly be in worse shape than I was. I have taken 12 bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am a strong woman now and can work down any of my neighbors. They wonder how I can do so much work. I dare say that I have recommended your medicine to a thousand women. A little book was thrown at my door, and that is how I first learned of it."—Mrs. D. M. BRITISH CABINET WOULD REVISE
PART OF IRISH TREATY

Privy Council Judicial Committee in Special Session Unanimously Favors Treaty Change as Only Feasible Way to Adjust Boundary Dispute

LONDON, July 31.—(By the Associated Press)—The Irish boundary problem has suddenly become acute again in consequence of the unanimous decision of the privy council's judicial committee to the effect that the only way to constitute the boundary commission provided for in the Anglo-Irish treaty is to amend the treaty by new legislation in the imperial parliament, binding both the northern and southern Irish government.

The British cabinet was summoned to a special meeting last evening to consider the position, which, according to several of the parliamentary correspondents is causing the ministers considerable anxiety. In view of the extreme delay of the situation the cabinet decided, it is said, to invite the British signatories of the Anglo-Irish treaty and the leaders of the other British political parties to confer immediately.

The general belief is that the government will be reluctant to introduce new legislation this late date in the parliamentary session, but several of the ministers are urging that unless an amending bill is brought in immediately a settlement made, the republican movement in southern Ireland will force the Free State out of existence and bring about establishment of a republic.

NERVOUS TREMOR
IN THE STOMACH

Mrs. Mary Viney, of No. 28 Brattle street, Portland, Me., was in an extremely nervous condition for two years. "At times," she says, "I would tremble all over and could not hold anything steady in my hands. After eating I had a nervous trembling in my stomach. I had sour stomach and nausea. I was dizzy a great deal and did not know what a good night's rest was. My circulation was so poor I was cold on the hottest day."

"After trying other medicines without benefit I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and before I had taken them a week I was better. The trembling sensations went away. The improvement continued and I had no more indigestion and heartburn. I can eat a good meal now without distress afterward. My circulation is good and I no longer have dizzy spells. I cannot say too much for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

EVERETT TRUE

COMMON SENSE

When a merchant advertises his wares in a newspaper, he does not appeal to the paper, but to its readers. He solicits the patronage of those readers, whether he agrees with the policy of the paper or not.

To refrain from advertising in a paper of wide circulation simply because he does not agree with the editor on all public questions, is not using common sense. It is a form of business suicide. It has sent many short-sighted business men into bankruptcy. A dealer might as well put a sign over his store notifying all who do not think as he does that he does not want their patronage. Readers of newspaper advertisements know when and where their patronage is welcome.

FOUR SHOT IN KLAN CLASH NEAR HAVERHILL FOLLOWING INITIATION

Police Make 23 Arrests, Some Prisoners Being Wounded
—Confiscated Firearms and Disperse Milling Mob of Nearly 8000 Persons—Arrests Are Evenly Divided

HAVERHILL, July 31.—Four men were shot here early today when hostile crowds clashed with between 3000 and 5000 members of the Ku Klux Klan who held a meeting lasting into the early morning on a hill in the neighboring town of Groveland. State and local police at length quelled the disorders, taking into custody 23 men, including three of the wounded men, and confiscated six shotguns, several revolvers and quantities of ammunition. The disorders broke out at the conclusion of a Klan initiation ceremony on Perry Hill, Groveland, and continued as nearly 1000 automobiles bearing klansmen from Worcester, Boston, Springfield and other cities traveled from the meeting place, homeward over the road toward Haverhill. Shots were fired and many missiles were thrown at the passing cars, only four men were known to have been injured. None of the injured men, all of whom suffered buckshot wounds in the legs, was believed to be dangerously hurt.

Say Klan Opened Fire

The wounded men, James Connolly, Francis Cotter, Edmund Lucey and a fourth named Buckley, all of Haverhill, were in one automobile. They alleged that they were fired upon by klansmen in a large truck, when they attempted to pass the vehicle after state police had signalled them to move ahead.

Approximately half of the score of men arrested were Haverhill residents and the others were from Massachusetts cities as far west as Worcester. All were charged with disturbing the peace.

300 Armed Guards There

About 300 armed guards surrounded the ten acre field in Groveland, in which the ceremonies were in progress. Last night, witnesses said, a crowd of 400 men collected outside the field, but, although hostile, no disturbance arose until about 1 o'clock this morning, when the meeting ended and the klansmen, openly armed, with knives and, marched out of the field beside the cars as a measure of precaution against attack. Large numbers of the Klan group were apparently former service men, wearing army uniforms.

Stones were hurled at the machines and occasional shots were fired as the klansmen, riding in their cars, drove toward Haverhill. The firing and stone-throwing increased as the klansmen entered Haverhill and it was in Haverhill that all of the arrests were made, 12 by Haverhill police and 10 by state patrolmen. Arrests appeared to be approximately evenly divided between persons attending the Klan meeting and opposition.

The men arrested in connection with the disturbance were brought into the district court today for a hearing. Because of the number of defendants and the amount of testimony to be heard court officials expressed the opinion that the proceedings would not be held before late in the day.

Police officers testifying at the trial of 20 klansmen and one anti-klansman in district court this morning, charged with disturbing the peace, declared that Groveland street, near the Groveland street fire station, was defended by shotgun reports and loud shouting at 1.30 this morning, as the near riot between the klansmen and anti was in full progress. Officers Joseph Decoteau and John A. McGowan, testified that they heard shotguns fired, heard klansmen shouting and shouting and jeering. They found shotguns in the possession of the men they arrested.

Traffic on Groveland street was blocked by the klansmen's automobiles which were stalled for a distance of several hundred feet, according to the police witnesses. Sergeant William A. Gavin said he saw a klansman jump from an automobile and run up Eastern avenue, armed with a shotgun.

July 13—Attempts to Locate Him Unsuccessful

Raphael Palardy, treasurer of the Notre Dame de Lourdes Credit union, a bank conducted on the co-operative style in Branch street near Nichols street, is missing from his home and his wife has been unsuccessful in her attempts to locate him whereabouts.

At her home at 501 Wilder street today Mrs. Palardy said her husband left to visit relatives in Canada on July 13, that he did stop with them for two or three days and left, presumably to return to Lowell. He has not returned and she has not heard from him since he left more than two weeks ago.

At the bank this noon it was said that nothing is known of the treasurer's whereabouts. A man has been placed at the bank to look after its business pending Mr. Palardy's return. He could give no information concerning the latter's disappearance.

Mrs. Palardy does not know whether her husband has met with an accident nor can she account for his long absence. She says she has made efforts to locate him, but without result.

It was said at local police headquarters this noon that no report concerning the absence of Palardy from the city has been received there.

SERIOUSLY INJURED IN RUNAWAY ACCIDENT

Thrown from the driver's seat and crushed under the wheels of the wagon he was driving, when the horses became frightened and ran away, William Couillard, aged 57, of 121 Willie street, was very seriously injured in Prescott street, early last evening. At St. John's hospital, where he was taken in the ambulance, it was found he had sustained a badly crushed chest and fractured leg.

The accident occurred a few minutes after six o'clock. Couillard, teamster for a local contractor, was driving a pair of horses attached to a heavily-loaded wagon through Prescott street, towards Central. Half-way up the street the horses became unmanageable and ran away. Couillard attempted to hold them but was thrown from his seat when the wagon crashed against the side of an electric car. It is believed one or two wheels of the wagon passed over Couillard's chest, causing the serious injuries.

The horses continued on their mad dash down Prescott street, but were stopped at Central street by Police Sergeant Peter P. McManmon and Officer Francis O'Loughlin before they had done any further damage.

At St. John's hospital early this afternoon, it is reported Couillard's condition is very critical.

BANDITS SHOOT AT N. Y. POLICE

Five Surprised By Lone Patrolman Hop in Auto and Open Fire

Other Officers Join in Chase and Believe Some Gunmen Wounded

NEW YORK, July 31.—Following a pistol battle early today between five bandits and three policemen in the lower East side, a general alarm was sent to all hospitals in the city asking them to keep a lookout for the injured members of the gang. The police believed at least two of them were injured.

The battle began when a patrolman attempted to capture the men after their actions had aroused his suspicions. When he approached them, they opened a fire in their automobile, returning his fire. Two other policemen commandeered a taxicab and joined in the chase. The rear glass window of the bandits' automobile was shattered by the policemen's bullets, but the car outdistanced the policemen.

Another pistol battle was waged in Brooklyn between five detectives and four men who attempted to escape with a stolen automobile. After a chase of more than a mile, the bandits deserted the stolen car which was punctured with bullet holes. Later the alleged driver of the abandoned car was left wounded at the door of a Brooklyn hospital.

contained in Mr. Gompers' declaration that labor proposes to show politicians and political parties that it is "not to be defied with impunity." From this the La Follette backers believe that the way is still open for an endorsement of their candidates, minus any A. P. of L. share in their third party projects.

If the Gompers statement does carry such an intimation it means simply that both Senators La Follette and Wheeler will be endorsed as individuals on their records in congress and elsewhere in behalf of labor and on their statement of the principles for which they stand. So far no decision has been reached as to what political action the executive council will take. Mr. Gompers says that the minds of the committee members are open but that once a decision is reached labor will throw its full weight behind the program laid down by the council.

Fight Is Foreseen

The one certain fact which stands out is that there will be a loud and insistent effort by the representatives of unions that already have gone over to the La Follette-Wheeler camp for a flat-footed endorsement of that ticket. Those closest to Mr. Gompers admit it, too. A spirited and perhaps prolonged fight is foreseen.

Mr. Gompers' party was the first of the labor contingent to arrive and take up headquarters at the Ambassador hotel. The party came from New York City. The labor chief stood the seven-hour sail well, and almost as soon as he arrived gave out the following statement:

"The meetings of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, which are to be held here, will continue over a period of several days and will deal with questions of vital interest to the labor movement and to our people generally.

Emphasis on Politics

"Of particular importance will be the question of political action as it relates to the present campaign. There has been a great public interest in the course which the American Federation of Labor is to pursue in relation to

WINGED DRAPERIES

Winged draperies offer the only relief from straight lines in many of the new evening gowns, and flouting panels that reach below the hemline are also with us again.

the coming election, and a great many forecasts have been made. Some have gone so far as to undertake to say definitely what course would be pursued. I presume I am in as good a position as any other to say what course is likely to be pursued, but neither I nor any other person can say what will be the result of the deliberations of our executive council until those deliberations have matured.

"We are meeting to consider certain facts, and I say with complete assurance that at the present moment our minds are open and our conclusions will be arrived at during our sessions as the result of our consideration of these facts. There is but one thing that can be said definitely at this time. It is that the American Federation of Labor will in this campaign abide in its time-tried policy of non-partisan action. We shall consider men and platforms upon the basis of their service, past and promised, to the wage earners and the great masses of the people of our country. We shall commit ourselves to no political party as partisans to a party.

Partisan to Principles Alone

"Our great movement is firmly convinced as the result of long practice that the one hope for the wage earners on the political field lies in being partisan to principles and not to political organizations. In the last campaign we supported candidates representing four political parties. We supported these candidates on their proven records. As a result of that support which we were able to give and as a result of the support which the friends of labor were able to give, there were elected to the last house of representatives 170 progressive members, the great majority of whom were justified the faith reposed in them by service rendered. That was a triumph vindication of the tremendous advantage of non-partisan activity, adding its great weight to the long chain of evidence as to the value of the policy which the American Federation of Labor has for so many years pursued.

"The political situation at the present moment is extremely critical, and those who seek to bring about results most advantageous to all our people will be required to exercise their most careful judgment. We are meeting at a time fortunate for that purpose. All of the political conventions have been held, candidates nominated and their platforms completed. The convention atmosphere has been cleared away and we are in the period of comparative quiet between campaign and campaign. We shall seek to take into account all of the facts and to advise the wage earners of our country fairly and intelligently. What final form our action will take in the way of formulating expressions of opinion I am unable to say. That cannot be said until action is taken.

Pledges Vigorous Campaign

"I may add that, however careful and painstaking may be our study of the situation, our campaign effort, after our course has been determined, will be as vigorous as possible. We shall leave nothing undone that may contribute to the election of those whose records justify our support. We shall make every possible effort to defeat those who have been faithless, who have sought to thwart the wishes of the people, and whose efforts have been expended in behalf of reactionary projects. We are entirely confident that those who were defeated in the congressional elections two years ago will be followed in retirement in the coming election by a formidable list of recruits.

"I think I can say with perfect propriety that we shall endeavor to demonstrate in this campaign that political organizations and politicians generally, individually as well as in groups, cannot with impunity defy the great labor movement of our country or refuse adequate and intelligent consideration of the just requirements of the great masses of the people.

HERRIOT OFFERS NEW PROPOSALS

French Premier Suggests
New Steps to the Inter-
Allied Conference

British Think New Suggestions Show Effort to Reach Settlement

LONDON, July 31 (By the Associated Press).—The inter-allied reparations conference took a new lease of life today when the experts assembled to consider the new French proposals presented by Premier Herriot yesterday.

The British participants in the conference view the French plan as the greatest effort yet made to bring about a settlement of the conference difficulties so that the Dawes plan can be put into operation and they are of the opinion that it will be a great step toward a final settlement.

The plan was laid before the experts at noon. After considering it for an hour, the committee adjourned until 2 p.m. One of the points of the French proposal provides for a board of arbitration, calculated to make a declaration of default on the part of Germany by the reparations commission much more difficult to obtain than now.

Another provides for setting up machinery to take care of defects which might develop in the working of the Dawes plan, and still another establishes guarantees against Germany maneuvering out of payments in kind. According to a French semi-official source, the proposal also provides for the evacuation of the Ruhr in successive steps as the securities issued under the Dawes plan are floated.

Extend Agreement

DUESSELDORF, July 31.—The German mine owners and the Franco-Belgian commissions in the Ruhr have agreed upon an extension of the economic accord, now in force in that territory until the Dawes plan becomes operative, except that after August 15, it is stipulated that the Germans can denounce the arrangement on five days' notice. The new agreement provides for the deduction of the license and export fees which the occupation authorities have heretofore imposed.

President and Wife Decide
He Will Remain at the White House

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Plans made by President and Mrs. Coolidge to permit their son, John, to attend the citizens' military camp this summer, at Camp Devens, Mass., have been abandoned and John will remain with his parents at the White House until fall, when he enters Amherst college.

It was the plan and desire of Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge at the time school closed last June that both John and his brother, Calvin, Jr., should attend the camp, but since the death of the latter, the question of John's attendance at the camp has been held in abeyance. John has been spending almost all of his time with his mother, and his presence was found to be such a comfort to her that the president finally decided it would be better for him to remain here until school opens.
